REPORT.

To the Governor of the State of New York:

The Board of Metropolitan Police in accordance with the provisions of chapter 403 of the laws of 1864, respectfully transmit their Annual Report, for the year ending November 1, 1866, upon the condition of the Metropolitan Police.

STATION HOUSES IN NEW YORK.

Sixth Precinct.—An appropriation was made in the tax levy of the present year of the sum of $10,000, to rebuild in part, and repair the station house and prison of the sixth precinct, which had become dilapidated, unsafe, and unhealthy. The work is completed at a cost of about fifteen thousand dollars. The sum of $5,000 will be required to meet the deficiency.

Tenth Precinct.—There is in the hands of the Comptroller the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, applicable to the purchase of premises for a station house for this precinct. This sum has proved insufficient for the purpose. An additional sum of twenty-five thousand dollars is required to accomplish the desired object. The apartments occupied by the force in this precinct are over the Essex market, and, as has been shown in former reports, are unsuitable in every respect for the service.

Eleventh Precinct.—The premises occupied by the force in the eleventh precinct are over the Union market, and like those in the tenth are unsuitable. The same considerations urged in case of the tenth precinct apply with equal force to the eleventh precinct. No funds have been provided for the purpose in the eleventh precinct. The sum of $40,000 would probably be sufficient.

Twenty-first Precinct.—Provision was made in the tax levy of 1866, and former years, to the amount of $35,000, to procure a permanent station house for this precinct. The lease of the premises now occupied as station house and prison for this precinct, contains a clause securing to the lessees the right to purchase the premises at any time within the present year for the sum of $21,000. The Comptroller of New York has notified the owner of the property he has decided to purchase the property at the price named. After paying the purchase money $21,000, there will remain of the appropriation $14,000, which will be applied in altering and fitting the premises for permanent use. The property is well located, and will make a convenient and valuable establishment at moderate cost.

Twenty-ninth Precinct.—In the tax levy of 1865, there was an appropriation of $40,000 to build a station house and prison for the twenty-ninth precinct, in a triangular plot of unoccupied public ground, bounded by the lines of Sixth avenue, Broadway, and Forty-second street. The owners of the property on the adjoining streets, strenuously oppose this location, and threaten resistance on some pretended legal or equitable grounds. The policy of building on this site is doubtful, in view of the rapid approach of the time when the precinct, from its great extent and heavy population, will be required to be divided. If this plot of ground cannot be used, and private premises are to be purchased instead, it will require an addition to the appropriation of at least $20,000.

Thirtieth Precinct.—The lease of the station house of this precinct expired on the first day of May last. The landlord claimed an exorbitant advance of rent, and compelled the board to engage other premises. They were fortunate in securing a lease of premises at the corner of Bloomingdale road and Lawrence street, for a term of five years, at a rent of $800 for the first year, and $700 per year for the residue of the term. The premises have been fitted up and a prison built, furnishing much better accommodations than the former location.

Thirty-second Precinct.—The amount of $5,000 was provided in the tax levy of 1865, for building a prison for the thirty-second precinct, as an addition to the station house, but the enhanced cost of labor and materials has rendered it impossible to contract for the structure for the sum appropriated. The building cannot be built for a sum less than about $10,000. An additional appropriation of $5,000 is needed to meet this expense.

Third Precinct.—The prison of the third precinct is insufficient in size. It is 12 by 24 feet, two stories high, with five cells in the first story, and two lodgers' rooms, 12 by 12 feet in the second story. Neither the cells nor the lodgers' rooms are adequate to the wants of the precinct.

The prison was so constructed in regard to foundation that it has settled and the walls are more than four inches out of vertical line. The process is still going on and will ultimately destroy the building and render it unsafe. The station house was originally a dwelling, 24 feet 8 inches by 50 feet, three stories and attic above the basement. Though a good building, it is not of sufficient size to accommodate the large force of this precinct. A story should be added to the station house, and the prison should be rebuilt and enlarged. For this purpose the sum of $15,000 will be required.

Fifth Precinct.—The station house of this precinct is an old dwelling-house altered for the purpose. The lot is in a block, 25 by 100 feet. On the rear of the lot a prison has been built. The station is old and insufficient in size. New premises are much needed to secure the health and comfort of the force. It is not practicable, on a lot of that size, situated in a block, with opportunity for light by the front and rear only, to construct a commodious station house and prison. It is desirable that measures be taken for the purpose of securing better accommodations.

Fourteenth Precinct.—The situation and condition of the station house and prison in this precinct are similar in all respects to those of the fifth, and the suggestions in respect to that precinct apply equally to the fourteenth.

On account of the extraordinary cost of labor and materials, repairs to the station houses have been restricted to the lowest limits consistent with reasonable accommodation to the force. Nevertheless there has been during the year, as there has been from year to year, an improvement in the general condition of the several premises occupied by the force.

BROOKLYN STATION HOUSES.

Forty-first Precinct.—During the year past additions and repairs have been made to the station house of this precinct at a cost of $3,200. New furniture has been added costing $530, making a total expenditure of $3,730.

Forty-second Precinct.—A contract has been entered into for a material enlargement, alteration and repair of the station house of this precinct, at a cost of $4,900. The work is in process, and near completion. This work will materially improve the condition of the premises, but there remains yet further changes to make the premises suitable for a station house. The house requires to be refurnished.

Forty-fifth Precinct.—During the year some needed repairs and improvements have been made in the station house of this precinct, the prison, cells, yard, and sewer connections. It is now in fair order.

Forty-ninth Precinct.—A new station house has been constructed for this precinct on Gates, near Marcy avenue. The building is of brick, 32 by 56 feet, three stories high, with accommodations for fifty men. The prison is two stories, with ten cells on the first floor, and two lodging rooms on the second floor. The establishment cost $20,000. It was occupied by the force on the 21st of March last.

Fiftieth Precinct.—In May last the force of this precinct was moved into premises rented and fitted up for a station house. It will serve a temporary purpose only.

Provision has been made by the municipal authorities of Brooklyn for raising the sum of $18,000 to provide permanent premises for the force of the fiftieth precinct, and the sum of $25,000 for like purpose in the forty-third precinct, which sums are to be raised in the tax levy now being collected and will be available to build station houses for those precincts during the ensuing year.

Inspector's Office.—The Inspector's Office for Brooklyn was removed on the first of May last to a building situated on the north-west corner of Washington and Johnson streets, rented by the City of Brooklyn for one year from May last at a rent of $2,000 per year. The building is 23½ feet by 50, containing twelve rooms. It is an improvement on the former apartments in the basement of the City Hall. The arrangement is temporary, however, and a building ought to be secured for permanent occupation.

The system for providing station houses and prisons for the use of the Metropolitan Police through the action of the municipal authorities, is neither judicious nor economical.

No other constituted authority can know as well as the Board of Metropolitan Police, the wants of the force, or can judge as well how they ought to be accommodated. Experience both in New York and Brooklyn has shown that buildings erected for police purposes by the municipal authorities, are not likely to be either well or economically constructed. The Board of Metropolitan Police ought to be charged with the duty of procuring premises for the uses of the police force, when needed, without the dilatory and expensive intervention of the municipal authorities.

Under the present system, the total cost of the maintenance of the Police Department, does not appear in the Reports of the Department. In New York, the rents of property hired and the cost of property purchased, are paid by the corporation of the city. In Brooklyn, the rents and cost of the real property used by the police, and the repairs and supplies of station houses, are at the cost and under the management of the city authorities. The law ought to be so amended as to authorize the Board of Police to manage this branch of police business, and hold them responsible for prudent and economical expenditures. But the title to all real property purchased for the uses of the police should rest in the city, county, or town, which furnished the means of purchase.

Attention is called to the report of the Board of Surgeons which contains suggestions in relation to improvements in station houses, which ought to be carried out from time to time as new buildings are constructed, or old ones materially repaired. The report is herewith submitted, marked No 1.

HEALTH OF THE FORCE.

The amount of lost time by sickness and injuries during the year, exceeds the amount of last year 311 days. This increase has not resulted from any unusual exposures or prevailing disease, but from the increased number of members who are afflicted with chronic diseases, which render them unfit for duty a large portion of their time. Notwithstanding the prevalence of the cholera in the district during a large portion of the summer, the police did not suffer from that cause in any unusual degree. The sanitary company, composed during the summer of fifty-three members, was constantly on duty, executing the orders of the Board of Health, in the unhealthy portions of the city, but they were not seriously affected by the exposure. Twenty-five deaths occurred during the year, which is at the rate of one death to each one hundred, very nearly.

PENSIONS.

At the date of last year's Report the number of pensioners was 46; it is now 51. Six have been added, and one has been discontinued by order of the Board.

The provisions of the Police Act in relation to the Police Life Insurance Fund ought to be so amended as to authorize the allowance of pensions to amounts not exceeding three hundred dollars per year; and also to authorize the Board to continue pensions to needy and meritorious children of deceased policemen after the death or marriage of the widow, with like effect as though the policemen had left no widow surviving him.

REGISTRY LAWS.

The Registry Laws of 1865, and the amendments thereof in 1866, have imposed upon the Board onerous and delicate duties. In former Reports they have earnestly recommended that some other method of appointing the officers of elections should be adopted, but without effect. They have endeavored to perform the duties acceptably, and are of the opinion that the officers selected have generally answered public expectation. It is believed that the change from the old system has contributed essentially towards honest voting and honest canvassing, and diminished considerably the expenses of the elections.

The Report of the keeper of Election Records herewith submitted, marked No. 2, contains suggestions in relation to desirable amendments of the law, and exhibits the amount of expenditures by that bureau.

HOUSE OF DETENTION OF WITNESSES.

It appears by the Report of Sergeant Folger, who has charge of the House of Detention of witnesses herewith submitted, marked No. 3, that during the year ending November 1, 1866, there have been committed to, detained, and provided for, in the House of Detention two hundred and ninety-nine persons. These witnesses were detained and provided for an aggregate of 4,757 days, being an average of sixteen days detention to each witness. Thirty-six of these witnesses were committed from Kings county, and were detained and provided for 1,260 days.

Under the existing provisions of law, the salaries of officers who have charge of the House of Detention, and the cost of repairs, supplies, fuel, light, etc., are defrayed out of that portion of the Metropolitan Police fund which is contributed by the city and county of New York, while the cost of boarding the witnesses is paid by the Board of Supervisors of the county of New York, at a rate of seventy-five cents per person per day.

For the year 1866, there has been paid from the fund contributed by the county of New York:

One sergeant.....	$1,500
Pay roll, other officers.....	2,700
Fuel, light, and supplies.....	897
Paid from police fund contributed by New York.....	$5,097
Paid by Board of Supervisors, part of which has been advanced by this Department on account of deficiency in funds raised by the Board of Supervisors.....	$3,563
Total cost for one year.....	$8,665

This is at the rate of $1.82¹/₁₀ per day for each prisoner. The proportionate cost of the support of witnesses, committed from Kings county, ought to be borne by that county. Under this view of the matter that county during the year past would be chargeable with the considerable sum of $2,294.46.

This does not include any share of the interest on the cost or the rent of the real property occupied for this institution, which property belongs to and was paid for by New York.

The police act, chapter 403 of the laws of 1864, section 37, after authorizing this Board to provide suitable accommodations for the detention of witnesses, makes it the duty of all magistrates (in the Metropolitan Police District) to commit witnesses in default of bail to the custody of the police at "the House of Detention," but neither this act nor any other makes any provision for the equitable distribution of the burthen of supporting the institution.

The law ought to be amended as to require each city, county, and town of the district to contribute to the support of the House of Detention in proportion to the number of days witnesses are detained and provided for on account of each.

TENEMENT HOUSES.

The means of escape in case of fire in the tenement houses of this city are deficient to a perilous degree. They are constructed four, five, and some of them six stories high. The apartments on the several stories are reached by a single stair-case, usually running directly from the top to the bottom of the building, with no other means of ingress and egress. When a tenement of this description takes fire in the lower story, the fire naturally seeks the stair-case, following the ascending column of heated air, and in a very short space of time cuts off the only means of escape for those who occupy the upper stories; presenting to the inmates the fearful alternative of jumping from the windows to the pavement, or being burned in the building. There are more than four thousand of these tenements in the city of New York, in which dwell, as permanent occupants, over one hundred thousand men, women, and children. These numerous families, equaling one family to each room, all use fires for warming and cooking, and many of them use camphene and other highly inflammable and explosive substances for lighting their apartments. In many instances, the tenants are of intemperate habits, and not unfrequently the apartments are left from early morning until night-fall, in the charge of young children. The first floor and cellar are often used for commercial purposes, having in store liquors, chemicals, oils, powder, and other dangerous combustibles. Lives have been lost during the year by the burning of tenement houses and insufficient means of escape. The circumstances attending some of these deaths are really appalling. It is surprising when the crowded condition, and their special exposure to conflagration from the causes above mentioned are considered, that the loss of life has not been greater. The report of Captain Lord of the sanitary company, herewith submitted, marked No. 4, mentions eleven tenement houses, four, five, and six stories high, having a single staircase each, in which 475 persons reside. These represent fairly the deficiencies in this class of buildings. The attention of the public and the Legislature have been often called to this subject, but so strong is the desire of the proprietors to realize inordinate gains from their investments, that all appeals, warnings, admonitions, have failed to produce any useful effect, and new buildings of this class are being constantly erected, without any improved means of escape in case of fire. No citizen ought to be allowed to so use his property as to put human life in constant jeopardy. If impulses of humanity are not sufficient, as it appears they are not, to restrain this vicious manner of building, statutes ought to be framed to afford reasonable protection to the very large class of persons who are unable to obtain other habitations.

CRIMES AND OFFENCES.

The number of arrests for offences in the cities of New York and Brooklyn from the year 1860 to 1866, both inclusive, were,

1860.....	81,143
1861.....	87,582
1862.....	101,469
1863.....	77,212
1864.....	69,571
1865.....	88,355
1866.....	97,587
Aggregate in seven years.....	603,019

The average number then for the seven years is 86,145. The year just closed exceeds the average 11,422. We assume that the vigilance of the police in making arrests has been increased rather than abated during these seven years. The increase of offences which subject persons to arrest may be attributed in part to the increase of the population of the two cities, which has been very great during the period under consideration; and in no small degree to the demoralizing effect of a state of war, and the disbanding of the immense armies. It might reasonably have been expected that the influences above alluded to would have exhibited themselves in an increase in the number of offences of high grade, such as are accompanied by violence to the person. In examining the records of arrests for the seven years—assault with intent to kill, felonious assaults, murder, threatening life, rape, attempt at rape, maiming, homicide, robbery in the first degree, highway robbery, burglary, and attempts at burglary—it appears that the number of arrests for offences enumerated have been,

1861.....	1,663
1862.....	1,310
1863.....	1,467
1864.....	1,372
1865.....	2,062
1866.....	1,917
Total in seven years.....	11,332

It thus appears that while the increase in the total number of arrests for over seven years was twenty per cent., the increase during the same period in arrests for the offences of high grade of which we have been speaking has been thirty per cent. Seeking a clue to the cause of crimes of the graver kind, we have caused to be reported the history as far as ascertained of the arrests for one year by the police, for the offences following, to wit:—homicides of all degrees, arsons, burglaries, robberies—including highway robberies and receiving stolen goods. The result is as follows:

Whole number of arrests for one year.....	999
Convicted.....	824
Acquitted after trial, or discharged without.....	492
To be tried.....	122
How disposed of not known.....	61
	999

The details are as follows:

There were homicides.....	83
Convicted...	15
Discharged or acquitted.....	41
To be tried.....	19
How disposed of not known.....	8
	83
There were arrested for arson..	69
Convicted	9
Discharged or acquitted.....	43
To be tried.....	13
How disposed of not known.....	4
	69
There were arrested for burglary	516
Convicted.....	237
Discharged or acquitted.....	199
To be tried.....	54
How disposed of not known.....	26
	516
There were arrested for robberies, including highway robberies..	176
Convicted.....	53
Discharged or acquitted.....	90
To be tried.....	20
How disposed of not known.....	13
	176

There were arrested for receiving stolen goods.....	155
Convicted.....	10
Discharged or acquitted.....	119
To be tried.....	16
How disposed of not known.....	10 155

From reading the details of these cases, it is apparent that a large proportion of those who are not convicted, do not escape because they are innocent, but by reason of defects in the administration of the criminal law. It is apparent that either the arrests are too numerous or the convictions too few.

Exactly where the fault lies and how it is to be remedied is difficult to decide without a more complete knowledge of the particulars of each case than it is practicable now to acquire. The arrests are now recorded and reported, but the subsequent proceedings and final results are difficult to be ascertained. It would aid the Legislature in dealing with questions of criminal law, if the proceedings and results of all prosecutions for felony were required to be reported annually by district attorneys and courts.

POLICE IN RURAL DISTRICTS.

It is worthy of consideration, especially to the population of rural districts, how far the efforts of the police of the cities to protect the people against the criminal classes tend to drive the persons composing those classes to new and more secure fields of criminal enterprise in the country adjacent to the cities. That such is the tendency in some degree, there is no question, and it is so decided that the remark has become common, that life and property are more safe in cities under the guardianship of the police than in the adjacent rural districts.

This is a growing opinion, and as a result of it the towns of Yonkers and West Farms, in Westchester County, proceeding under the police act, chapter 403 of the laws of 1864, have, by a vote of town meetings, respectively authorized a permanent police, and made the required fiscal arrangements therefor. Yonkers authorized a force of fourteen, and West Farms a force of six men. In each town a portion of the police do duty as horse patrol, which greatly increases their efficiency.

The Legislature, at its last session, passed two acts designated as chapters 84 and 590 of the laws of 1866. These acts authorized the appointment, by the Board of Metropolitan Police, of a captain, two sergeants and twenty-five patrolmen for the county of Richmond, and authorized and required the supervisors of that county to make the needful fiscal provision for their maintenance.

In pursuance of these proceedings in Yonkers and West Farms, and of the acts concerning Richmond County, this Board have appointed and organized the police called for by proceedings and statutes above referred to.

The force in West Farms entered upon their duties on the 13th day of January last; in Richmond county on the 16th day of June last, and in Yonkers on the 10th day of August last.

The town of West Farms constituted a sub-station of the 32d precinct, with a sergeant in command. The station house is at Fremont. Richmond county has been constituted a precinct designated as the 51st precinct. The station house is at the village of Stapleton, recently called Edgewater. The town of Yonkers has been constituted a sub-station of the 32d precinct, designated as Yonkers sub-station, with a station-house at the village of Yonkers. The Fremont and Yonkers sub-stations are under the command of the captain of the 32d precinct.

Thus, during the year, the jurisdiction of the Board of Metropolitan Police has been potentially extended over the rural districts above named.

These proceedings, as is usual and natural in the beginning, met with considerable opposition from a portion of the population. It is believed, however, that all who feel any interest in good government, having observed the benefits of an independent and disciplined police force, have already become friends of the system.

Other towns in the vicinity of the metropolis are so infested with bad characters, and so depredated upon by robberies and thieving, that they are considering how to defend themselves and re-establish the quiet and safety which they have been accustomed to enjoy in former years.

BOAT LICENSES.

It is estimated that there are upon the waters of the Metropolitan police district not less than five thousand row and sail boats. They are used to a large extent in the needful and commendable business of fishery, as vehicles of commerce in many ways, and as private pleasure boats and yachts. They are to the movements of business and pleasure on the water, what carts, hacks, coaches and other vehicles are to like movement on land. There has long been apparent the propriety of reducing these boats to the supervision of the authorities, and regulating them as vehicles on land are.

regulated. Many of these boats are the property of men of depraved and desperate character, who make them the vehicles of larceny, robbery and plunder, in numerous ways. The capture of stolen property in boats by the police is a matter of daily occurrence, and the boats are too frequently convenient instrumentalities in committing most grave and atrocious crimes.

Considerations of the character above referred to, induced the Legislature at its last session to enact a law (chapter 475 of the laws of 1866), entitled "An act to regulate the use of certain boats and vessels within the limits of the Metropolitan Police district." This act conferred the power and imposed the duty upon this Board of licensing boats and vessels of the kind enumerated in, and according to provisions and regulations contained in the act. It authorized the Board to appoint an officer to be known as inspector of boats and to create a bureau of boat inspection. The bureau has been created and the officer appointed. The report of the inspector of boats, hereto appended, will show what progress has been made in this new field of duty. It contains suggestions of certain amendments to render the law more efficient and less restrictive as to persons prosecuting specified kinds of legitimate business. The report is marked No. 5.

HACKS AND HACKMEN.

An examination of the laws and ordinances for the licensing and regulation of hacks and hackmen in the city of New York, would justify the expectation, that this branch of the public service in New York would be all that could be desired. The provisions are similar to those existing in Paris. The results of administration of the system in the two cities are widely different. In Paris the service is said to approach perfection. Abuses are rare, and when they do occur, the discipline applied is prompt and certain. In New York the character and practices of many of the public hackmen are "an open and apparent shame." Abuses of the gravest character, often amounting to crimes, are frequent. Arrests for this class of delinquents are numerous, but punishments are rare.

Reference is respectfully made to the report of Captain Brackett, of the twenty-sixth precinct, who is charged with the duty of supervising hacks. It is herewith transmitted, marked No. 6. By this report, it appears that there were during the year, 447 arrests of hackmen, for violations of law or ordinances, 245 of whom were discharged without punishment.

The laws and ordinances which grant to hackmen a practical monopoly of the business, fix also the rate of compensation. To demand pay in excess of the legal rates, is a legal offence, to which the law affixes a penalty, but hackmen violate the ordinances habitually, and as appears too frequently with impunity. While the administration of this branch of the public service remains so inefficient, no better conduct on the part of the hackmen can be expected.

OTHER LICENSED OCCUPATIONS.

Junk shop keepers, junk boatmen, purchasers of second hand articles, and pawn brokers, are licensed by the mayor. Persons engaged in robbing and stealing personal property naturally apply to those engaged in the callings above enumerated, to sell and convert the property they have plundered into money. The property is too often purchased without scrutiny or enquiry, thus affording most important aid to those engaged in criminal offences. If these facilities were not afforded, thieves and robbers would be embarrassed by the possession of the stolen property, and detections and convictions would be more frequent. It would greatly assist the police in the detection and conviction of thieves and robbers, if the power to license and revoke, for cause, the licenses of the occupations above enumerated, and make rules regulating the keeping of books and accounts, and making reports of their business, should be conferred upon the Board of Metropolitan Police. This Department would then be enabled to keep a record of the property passing into the possession of those licensed persons, by means of which stolen property could be traced and identified in numerous cases, that under the present system escape detection.

EXCISE.

On the 14th of April, 1866, the Legislature passed "An act to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors within the Metropolitan police district," being chapter 578 of the laws of that session. This act, in effect, constitutes "The Metropolitan police district, excepting and excluding the county of Westchester," into an excise district, and provides that the persons who are commissioners of the board of health be a board of excise for such district, and provides that they alone shall possess the powers and perform the duties of commissioners of excise, within the jurisdiction of such board of excise. By the law creating a Metropolitan sanitary district and a board of health therein, the commissioners of Metropolitan police are made members of the board of health, and are therefore members of the board of excise above referred to.

The Board of Metropolitan Police, in the performance of their duties, have had large opportunities of observing, and have been impressed with the magnitude of the evils resulting from the unrestricted sale of intoxicating liquors, and have in their reports called the attention of the Legislature and the public to the subject.

The Board of Excise, constituted in the manner above mentioned, organized in pursuance of the act, on the first day of May last, and immediately entered upon their duties. The duty of investigating the character and antecedents of the applicants for licenses was necessarily devolved upon the Commissioners of Metropolitan Police.

At the date of entering upon their duties there were, in the cities of New York and Brooklyn, over 9,250 places where intoxicating liquors were publicly sold. Of this vast number, but 754 pretended to have licenses, leaving about 8,500 open and admitted violators of the law. The statutes of the State, as they have existed for many years, prohibited the sale of intoxicating liquors on the Sabbath. The provision of the excise law in relation to such sales on the Sabbath, was no new provision. It re-enacted an existing law, with some change in the penalties imposed. Nevertheless, at at nearly all of these 9,250 places, intoxicating liquors were openly sold, in desecration of the day held to be holy in all Christian countries, and to the great regret and annoyance of all quiet and sober-minded citizens.

As an evidence of the demoralizing effect of this illegal traffic, the police reports have shown from year to year, that the arrests for offences, on Sabbaths and nights succeeding Sabbaths, have exceeded the number of arrests on other days of the week by more than 20 per cent.

Prior to the enactment of this law, there had existed for a number of years, a Board of Excise, charged with the power and duty of granting excise licenses, but from some defect in the law or its administration in the city of New York, it had failed substantially to produce beneficial effects. The traffic had become practically unregulated, and very nearly untaxed.

Under the auspices of that board, in 1860, the revenue contributed to the treasury of New York city by license fees, amounted to $54,580, which was about equal to the proceeds of 1819 licenses at $30 each, which was the maximum rate; while in 1864, the revenues had dwindled down to $12,450, equal to the proceeds of 415 licenses, at the same rate. What was the actual number issued and rates charged in these years, is not known to this department.

The excise law of last winter was an attempt to revive and establish an efficient administration of the law on this most important subject.

The new Board of Excise established two classes of licenses: One class permitted the sale of strong and spirituous liquors, wine, ale and beer, to be drank on the premises, for which a fee of $250 each was required; for the other class, which permitted the sale of ale and beer only, a fee of $100 was required. They adopted a rule, refusing licenses to persons who kept, or pretended to keep, small groceries or huxter shops, which are resorted to by men, women, children and others, for their daily purchases of provisions.

The total number of licenses issued and delivered was $5,697. Of this number, 3,596 were of the first class, paying $250 each; 2,098 were of the second class, paying $100 each. Three canceled and issued for part of a year, $41.66 each.

The total amount of revenues arising from license fees was $1,108,924.98, and was contributed by the several cities, counties and towns as follows:

The amount of moneys received by the treasurer of Metropolitan Police, from the board of excise, appears in the fiscal report of the treasurer of police herewith submitted, marked No. 7.

Section 16 of the excise law, chapter 578 of the Laws of 1866, provides that "every person who shall violate any of the provisions of the act, shall, for each offence, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be punished with a fine of not less than $30, nor more than $100, or with imprisonment for not less than ten days nor more than 30 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

Section 23 of the act provides that "all license fees and penalties shall be received by, and all fines shall be paid over to this board and that all magistrates and courts shall monthly report and pay over (to this board) all fines imposed and received by them."

Several of the courts and magistrates of the district, in compliance with the section last quoted, have reported and paid over to this board the proceeds of fines imposed, as follows :

These figures prove that there has been a more earnest and general enforcement of the law in the city of Brooklyn than in the city of New York.

It is proper to observe that, in the city of New York, there was but a very brief period during which the board of excise and police were allowed by the courts to exercise the powers or perform the duties conferred and imposed by the act, in the arrest and punishment of offenders.

It will be borne in mind that the board of excise entered upon their duties on the first day of May last. A system of opposition to the law, based on the assumption that it was unconstitutional and void, early manifested itself, and orders and injunctions of courts and judges were obtained to prevent the action of the board of excise and the police in giving effect to its provisions. From the 4th of June to the 3d of July, 854 suits were commenced against the commissioners of excise and the commissioners and officers of police, and injunctions to that number issued and served, restraining the officers in question from proceeding to enforce the law against persons guilty of acts declared by the law to be misdemeanors.

Of this vast number of injunctions

Judge Cardozo granted and issued	704
Judge Brady “ “	129
Judge McCunn “ “	21

Total 854

No other judicial officer in the excise district granted any such injunction.

Six indictments were found against persons for violation of the excise law.

They were known in the courts and newspaper reports as the cases of Jacob Kreeshoor and five others.

These cases were argued on demurrer to the indictments before Recorder Hackett, and he delivered an elaborate opinion, which was published, pronouncing the law wholly unconstitutional and void.

After the publication of this opinion, magistrates of police courts in the city and county of New York refused to entertain complaints for violations of the excise law, and dismissed all who were arrested and charged with such violations.

Under the protecting ægis of these judicial proceedings, injunctions and decisions, the hands of the excise board and the police have been tied, and free trade in intoxicating drinks has prevailed in the city of New York at all hours of the day and night, and on the Sabbath as well as on every other day of the week.

With a view to obtain a decision by the court of last resort, in respect to the validity of the act and of its various sections, cases were agreed upon containing the facts on which the controversy in each instance depended, according to section 372 of the Code.

These cases were decided by the Supreme Court in favor of the constitutionality of the law. Appeals were taken to the Court of Appeals, and were argued at a regular term of that court held in the month of September last. The final decision of the Court of Appeals is expected at the term to be held during the present month. If the decision of the Court of Appeals shall be in favor of the constitutionality and validity of the excise law, the question will remain for the Legislature and the people whether the law shall not be maintained without material alteration until it shall be demonstrated by its proper enforcement for a year or more, whether it will answer the ends proposed by the friends of order and good government. If the law as it was passed can have a fair and impartial trial for a year or two, it is believed that the results will justify the experiment, and prove to the public the value of the system.

It is proper to observe that the law has not, at any time, been in full force and effect in its practical administration. While the applications for licenses were under consideration by the board of excise, and until they were disposed of by the issue or denial of licenses, no arrests were made for violation of the excise law, except for selling on the Sabbath, and before the applications were fully disposed of the police were prohibited by injunctions as above stated from making any arrests. But during the month of May and the early part of June, and until the partial enforcement of it was restrained by injunction, it was so far effective as to present a sample of the fruits expected from it.

The records of this department show the number of persons arrested each day for being "intoxicated," "drunk and disorderly," and for "disorderly conduct;" all these offences are uniformly attributable to the use of intoxicating liquors.

The number of persons arrested for these offences on Sundays and Tuesdays of each week, during the months of May to September, inclusive for the year of 1865, when we had no excise law in practical operation, and in 1866, when the present law was for a brief period, May and June, in partial operation, are given in a table herewith submitted, marked No. 8, and quoted as a comparative illustration.

It appears by this table that on eight Sundays and Tuesdays, in May and June of 1865 and 1866, the arrests for offences mentioned were as follows :

On 8 Tuesdays in 1865, under old system	1,018
On 8 Sundays “ “ 	1,078
	<hr/>
Difference	60
	<hr/>
On 8 Tuesdays, 1866, under new system	1,203
On 8 Sundays “ “ 	523
	<hr/>
Difference	680
	<hr/>
On 8 Sundays in 1865, old system	1,078
On 8 Sundays in 1866, new system	523
	<hr/>
Difference	555
	<hr/>

The same table exhibits figures in relation to the arrests of July, August and September of 1865 and 1866, in marked contrast with the above. Thus, in 1865:

On 13 Sundays in July, August and September were arrested	2,094
On 13 Tuesdays in July, August and September.....	2,223
Total.....	4,317

In 1866, on 13 Sundays in July, August and September, there were arrested.....	2,125
On 13 Tuesdays, July, August and September.....	1,803
Total.....	3,928

Showing that as soon as the enforcement of the excise law was defeated by the courts, the number of arrests for the offences induced by the sale of intoxicating liquor immediately became as numerous as under the old system.

It is known to the police that a large portion of the Sunday arrests made during the eight Sundays in 1866, were of persons who had gone out of the excise district to indulge their appetites for drink, and on their return were arrested at the ferries and bridges.

During the brief period in May and June last, and while the law could be enforced, citizens of all parties, classes and creeds, saw for the first time in many years, our metropolis enjoying the Christian Sabbath substantially undesecrated by drunkenness and disorderly proceedings.

INCREASE OF FORCE.

In the great cities of England and Europe, where the police force is constantly supported by the regular military force, policemen are employed at the rate of one to every five hundred of the population. In New York, where there is no standing army at command, and where much larger liberties are allowed to citizens than in other countries, the proportion is not so great.

The population of the city has greatly increased during the past five years, and its trade and wealth have increased in greater ratio than the population. The tendency of vicious classes to resort to the metropolis, not only from our own but from other countries, the increase of crimes of grave character, with other considerations, indicate the propriety of a moderate increase of the force in the city of New York.

Brooklyn has but 307 patrolmen, which is less than one to 1,200 of population; its territory requiring police surveillance is equal to New York. This great extent of territory is divided into ten precincts, each of large extent. The extremes of the precinct are so remote from the respective station houses as to consume a large portion of the time of the patrolmen in going to and returning from their tours of duty. The law ought to be amended so as to allow the division of the territory of Brooklyn into a larger number of precincts, and the welfare of the city demands a considerable increase in the number of patrolmen.

POLICE FORCE.

The enactment of the laws creating the "Board of Health," the board of excise, the registry and election law, and the law for licensing boats, has greatly increased the labors, duties and responsibilities of the police force, and especially of the officers of the force. These new and additional duties have been performed without neglecting any of the customary duties of police.

The discipline and efficiency of the force have been fully maintained, and there has been an obvious improvement in the character of the men who present themselves as applicants for appointment; from which, if continued, an improvement in the material of the force may be expected.

The report of the treasurer herewith submitted, marked No. 7, exhibits all the fiscal transactions of the department for the year, including "The Police Fund, the Police Life Insurance Fund," and the moneys realized from license fees and penalties under the excise law.

The statistical reports of the chief clerk, for New York, marked No. 9, for Brooklyn, marked No. 10, Westchester county, No. 11, and Richmond County, No. 12, are herewith submitted, exhibiting the number of the police force on the 1st day of November, 1866; the time lost by sickness, the number of arrests, and the classification of the same; the number and disposition of lost children taken charge of by the police; the value of the property lost and recovered, and the incidental duties and services of the force, for the year ending October 31st, 1866.

The report of the property clerk is herewith submitted, marked No. 11, showing the transactions of that branch of service in the department, for the year.

(No. I.)

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF SURGEONS FOR THE YEAR
ENDING NOVEMBER 1ST, 1866.

TO THOMAS C. ACTON,

President of the Board of Metropolitan Police :

The Board of Surgeons of the Metropolitan police force has the honor herewith to transmit to the Board of Police Commissioners its annual report, giving a condensed statement of its labors during the year, showing the number of candidates for appointment who have been examined, the number of days lost by reason of sickness or disability from casualties, the average time lost by each sick man, the numbers of deaths, the ratio to the whole force, the death ratio to cases of sickness, and the number and classification of diseases. It submits also a resumé of its action upon the various subjects referred by your honorable body to this board for investigation and report, the state of the force as to health, the sanitary condition of the station houses, together with such reflections and suggestions for your consideration as naturally grow out of the treatment of these various matters. In the previous annual reports much attention has been bestowed upon sanitary questions pertaining to fat boiling and slaughtering establishments, cattle driving, defective sewerage, street paving, tenement houses, gas houses and other subjects affecting the life and health of the inhabitants of the Metropolitan district. In this annual report these subjects have been purposely omitted for the obvious reason that they pertain strictly to the sanitary board, of which your honorable body constitutes a part, and for the establishment of which authority this board has striven for years. It cannot therefore allow this occasion to pass without expressing its liveliest satisfaction that the efforts in various directions, continued through years, to create for the district a competent board of health, have at last resulted so auspiciously, nor can it neglect the opportunity to offer its congratulations for the complete success of the measure, whether viewed as to its personal or to the prompt and efficient character of the performances of the board. It is a matter of sincere gratification to the board of surgeons that its labors in investigating and bringing conspicuously to public notice the alarming condition of various establishments prejudicial to public health, and its efforts in the cause of sanitary reform, have received the recognition implied from the fact that the preventive and remedial measures on the subjects of fat-boiling and slaughtering establishments, gas manufactories and cattle driving suggested in its several later annual reports, have been acted upon and with such beneficial results. It is hoped that the other subjects, such as sewers, tenement houses, etc., will also be taken up and the remedies considered.

During the year, there have been examined by the surgeons one thousand three hundred and ninety three men, who were candidates for appointment in the force. Of this number, seven hundred and forty were accepted as having the proper physical qualification, while six hundred and fifty-three were rejected as deficient in these qualifications.

The number of days lost by reason of sickness and disability from injuries, amounts to thirty thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven. This is three hundred and eleven days more than last year. There have been four thousand and twenty-three cases of sickness averaging seven days and a half for each sick man. Twenty-four deaths have occurred in the year, this being one death to each one hundred and sixty-seven cases of sickness. The death ratio for the year, has been 1.002 per cent., or about ten for each one thousand men.

For the year past there have been fourteen applications for relief or for pensions, referred to this board for investigation. Of these, there were three commended to your favorable consideration, and eleven reported upon as having established no just claim. Eleven cases of appeal for full pay for sick time, were referred to the board, of which four have been favorably reported upon, and seven unfavorably. In examining into these various applications, great care has been taken in order to arrive at the merits of the cases respectively.

During the year all applicants to the Central office for medical advice have been prescribed for by the surgeons; one of whom has been constantly present.

Every station house has been visited daily by the district surgeon, except on days of duty at Central office. At the various station houses, there have been three hundred and fifty-seven cases of accidents or sudden illness attended to and prescribed for by the surgeons, who have been promptly sent for whenever needed. These cases usually are at night. The few which have occurred during the day, have rarely ever happened at the moment of the daily visit of the surgeon.

STATION HOUSES.

Great care has evidently been bestowed by captains and sergeants, in securing cleanliness, neatness and order in and about the several station houses, offices, dormitories and cells for prisoners and vagrants. Year after year, a marked and increasing improvement is manifested in their condition. It is believed that this arises not only because of a more thorough knowledge of means and appliances to attain these desirable results, but also from more determined efforts on the part of the officers to make these houses conspicuous for cleanliness and order, and as comfortable as circumstances will permit.

Notwithstanding that everything that care and energy can do has been done, yet much effort is utterly wasted in certain houses, from the circumstances of their very objectionable position. It is greatly to be regretted that station houses and cells for prisoners are still permitted to remain over markets, as in the tenth and eleventh precincts. The many disadvantages of having them thus placed, are so obvious as to require no extended process of argument to convince the Board of Police that they should be removed from such manifestly improper locations.

CELLS FOR PRISONERS.

Your attention is again earnestly directed to the serious and continued evil, of allowing cells for prisoners and vagrants to remain under ground, where they must necessarily be dark, damp, unventilated and unhealthy. These cells are used for the temporary detention of all accused persons, many of whom, it should be borne in mind, are guiltless of any offence, but who must be detained over night until their cases can receive the necessary judicial investigation. The subjecting of innocent persons, or those even who may be guilty of trifling offences, to such unhealthy and disgusting punishment, in advance of judgment, is barbarous and abominable. Common justice to innocent but accused persons, as well as the dictates of common humanity and the christian duty to ameliorate, as far as possible, the condition of those who are really criminal, or who are homeless wanderers, and who are, therefore immured in these gloomy and unwholesome vaults, all require that a radical change be effected. In several of the more recently erected station houses, the cells for prisoners and lodging rooms for vagrants, are in rear buildings, above ground, where they are light, well ventilated and healthy. The cells in the other houses should be removed to like situations, at the earliest practicable moment.

LODGING HOUSES.

The board of surgeons is of the opinion that it would be recreant to its duty, did it not strenuously urge upon the board of police, the propriety, the economy, nay, the absolute necessity of discontinuing the practice of using station houses as lodging houses for vagrants. The practice is fraught with numerous evils. The huddling together like cattle of a large number of drunken, dirty and oft times diseased wretches, contaminates the air breathed by the patrolmen in the same building. It engenders typhoid and other idiomiasmatic diseases, and is a prolific and traceable source of sickness among the officers and men. Beside this, the passing in and out of these lodgers frequently prevents the men from obtaining the necessary sleep, without which it is impossible that they should well and efficiently perform the duties required of them while on post. Some systematic, radical and comprehensive change in this matter is urgently needed, such as the erection of lodging houses for vagrants, entirely disconnected from the station houses.

Whether the charitable providing of lodgings for the homeless and destitute, be any portion of the duty of the board of police, and if so, what propriety there is in making it part of his duty, and whether this subject does not more naturally and more properly devolve upon the department of public charities, questions though interesting in themselves, yet are not perhaps, strictly within the scope of a medical report. It is, however, eminently proper as a medical and sanitary question, to show that, to which ever department this matter more rightfully and properly belongs, lodgings for vagrants should never be allowed in any portion of a station house, for the reasons above stated.

DORMITORIES.

The dormitories of the station houses are constructed radically wrong in having no means of ventilation, except by doors and windows. It is a source of vexatious, and never-ending contention among the men, whether these apertures should be opened or closed, as by these alone, can any ventilation be effected. As a majority, however, prefer that they should remain closed, it results that the men habitually sleep in completely unventilated departments. Now if there were registers in the walls, not subject to the control of the men, perfect ventilation would be secured, and the health of the men greatly protected.

UNHEALTHY DWELLINGS.

The promulgation of rules by the board of police, suggested by this board from sanitary considerations, in reference to the sleeping dress, and to beds and bedding, have worked admirably, have been conducive not only to their comfort, but have also resulted, in a marked degree, in promoting the health of the men. The beneficent consequences of these rules naturally suggest others of like character. It is well known to the surgeons that seven or eight per cent. of the force dwell in unhealthy houses. Strict discipline requires of every man neatness of person and attire. Yet, in numerous instances, these same neatly dressed men, with their families, occupy apartments in dirty tenement houses, in filthy and unwholesome locations. It is susceptible, of irrefragible proof, that numerous cases of sickness have either originated from, or have been complicated and prolonged, because the men have occupied these unhealthy dwellings. Now, as the time and the vigor of the men belong, in a certain sense, to the public, to say nothing of the duty of protecting the members of the force from the consequences of their own mistakes or ignorance, it is a fair question for the consideration of your board, whether you should not, by general order, intervene for a very laudable purpose.

All of which is very respectfully submitted.

ALANSON S. JONES, M. D., President.

WILLIAM SUTTON, M. D., Secretary.

No. 2.)

BUREAU OF ELECTIONS, December 1, 1866.

To the Board of Police:

In pursuance of Chapter 740, Laws of 1865, and under the enlarged powers and duties imposed by chapter 812 of the laws of 1866, the provisions therein contained have been carried out under the direction of the board of police, with due regard for the objects sought to be attained. As early as the 15th of June last, the work was begun of selecting two thousand one hundred persons, who would be recognized by all good citizens as proper men in all respects, to discharge the responsible duties of inspectors of registry and election, canvassers and poll clerks; taking care to divide the selections equally between the two political parties.

Not a few prominent citizens who were duly notified of their selection, responded in terms like the following:

“I have neither time nor inclination for anything but attention to my own business.”

Many gentlemen whom the board would have taken pleasure in appointing, excused themselves, and thus the labor of making selections correspondingly increased. The list was at length completed, and the general testimony since the elections is that the persons appointed performed their duties satisfactorily. The amount obtained by requisition on the comptroller for expenses of registry and elections was as follows:

For the general election and registry prior thereto.....	$52,169 00
For the charter election and registry prior thereto.....	39,807 00
Total.....	$92,016 00

Of this sum nearly $70,000 is required to pay the inspectors, canvassers and poll clerks and lessors of polling places, the compensation being fixed by ordinance. In the remaining expenditures, a saving of nearly nine thousand dollars has been effected, as shown by comparison with the report of the department of finance for 1865. In this connection it may be suggested that the law might be amended, reducing the session of the inspectors of registry, prior to the charter election, to one day (instead of two,) without public detriment, thus meeting the convenience of citizens, who, from a desire to promote the purity of the election franchise, consent to perform this duty, and, at the same time, saving to the treasury the sum of $6,500.

It only remains to suggest the inquiry, whether some further legislation will not be necessary in relation to the appointment of inspectors and other officers of the election, to be appointed by the next Legislature, for members of the coming Constitutional convention.

D. B. HASBROUCK,

Keeper of Election Records.

EXAMINATION AND INSPECTION OF STEAM BOILERS.

There are seven men, practical engineers, detailed as inspectors of steam boilers, whose duty it is to see that each person in charge of a boiler has a certificate as to qualification from this department, and examine as often as possible the condition, and annually test, hydrostatically every stationary steam boiler in use in the precincts of the Metropolitan police district. The law provides that no owner or agent of any steam boiler shall employ any person as engineer without their having a certificate as to qualification from this department; hence, every applicant for an engineer's certificate is examined as to his competence to take charge of his given boiler or boilers. To be competent, he must understand the condition of the various parts of the boiler internally as well as externally. Thus, from the examination and licensing of each engineer, and the examination by the inspectors of each boiler the department obtains complete information of every boiler in the district.

As an evidence of the improvement in the condition and care of boilers, I would report that there have been but two explosions in the district during the past year attributable to carelessness on the part of the persons in charge.

One explosion occurred in the eastern district of Brooklyn, caused by lightning which struck the boilers and displaced them, causing three of them to explode.

The two explosions which occurred through carelessness, are as follows: On the 23d of May, at the sugar refinery of Messrs. Harris & Dayton, at No. 28 Leonard street, in the city of New York, an explosion occurred between 6 and 7 o'clock, A. M., previous to commencing work for the day. This occurred entirely through the carelessness of the fireman in charge of the boilers (the engineer not being present at the time). He had shut off communication from the steam guage, and at the time of the explosion was on the top of the boilers (as he says himself), and there is no doubt but he then, or sometime previously had overloaded the safety valve, as there is every evidence to prove that the explosion occurred from an over-pressure of steam, say from eighty to one hundred pounds. The boilers have been regularly tested, and allowed to carry fifty pounds of steam under which pressure they would have been perfectly safe.

On the third day of November, at No. 205 First street, Brooklyn, E. D., an explosion occurred through the carelessness of the engineer leaving the boiler with a scant supply of water, and not properly banking his fire. In about one hour after the building had been closed for the night, the boiler collapsed a flue, causing a great destruction of property, but fortunately no loss of life.

During the year there have been 850 applicants examined as to their qualification to take charge of steam boilers. Of this number 780 were found qualified and certificates granted, and 70 not qualified and certificates refused.

Attached please find a satistical table of the number of steam boilers examined, tested hydrostatically, found defective, and repaired, condemned and removed by order of the department.

MEANS OF ESCAPE FROM TENEMENT HOUSES IN CASE OF FIRE.

In my annual report of 1865, I called your attention to the fact, that there were in the city of New York, four thousand and seventy tenement houses, containing one hundred and eight thousand one hundred and seven persons, where there were no safe or adequate means of escape provided in case of fire. Since that time there has been no alteration, nor has there been any improvement in the construction of new buildings, as regards the means of escape of the inmates in case of fire. During the past year, there has been fearful loss of life by fire in tenement houses, for want of proper means of escape. The following is a fair average of egress from tenement buildings:

No. 276 East 11th street; this is a boys' lodging house, four stories high, and stands alone: the number of boys lodging there is from 35 to 40; entrance and stairs are on one side of the building, and narrow.

No. 613 East 13th street, rear house; four stories high; stands alone; contains eight families; number of occupants 32; stairs in the centre.

Nos. 127, 129, 131, 133 Goerck street; entrance and stairs on one side; contains 26 families; number of occupants 140; are four stories high, and not even a ladder to reach the roof in case of fire.

No. 98 Ridge street; five stories high, in rear; 14 feet down to the next roof; only a ladder, which is hung over the stairs to reach the roof, and difficult to put up; entrance in the center; contains 10 families; number of occupants 42,

No. 157 Attorney street. this house is six stories high ; entrance in the center ; no means provided to reach the roof ; number of families 20 ; occupants 113.

No. 72 Oliver street ; rear building, five stories high ; stands alone contains 10 families ; 50 persons.

No. 18 Cherry street ; rear building five stories high, and contains 20 families ; 80 persons ; entrance in the center.

No. 34 Cherry street ; five stories high ; stands alone ; the entrance is on one side ; contains 15 families ; 80 occupants.

In all such cases as the above, where the egress is cut off from the stairs, by fire, the only escape left is from the windows :

BUREAU BOAT INSPECTION, NEW YORK Nov. 1, 1866.To Hon. Board Commissioners Metropolitan Police :

Gentlemen—I herewith submit to you a report of the transactions of the “Bureau of Boat Inspection,” created under chapter 475 laws of 1866 :

The bureau went into active operation in May last, since which time licenses have been issued as follows :

For private pleasure boats.....	500
For pleasure boats for hire.....	657
For attending shipping and carrying passengers.....	109
For gathering junk.....	225
For oyster and fishing boats.....	556
For grappling boats.....	38
For miscellaneous purposes.....	21
	<hr/>
	2,106
	<hr/>

The respective residences of the parties (two thousand and fifty-five in number), to whom the above licenses were issued, is as follows :

New York.....	938
Kings County.....	446
Richmond County.....	516
Westchester County.....	47
Queens County.....	41
New Jersey.....	67

The number of boat licenses is comparatively small; the whole number in the district being probably from 4,000 to 5,000, which could all, or nearly all, have been licensed, had the necessary facilities been afforded to compel compliance with the law.

I beg leave to suggest several amendments, which in my opinion will inure to the benefits of all business interests involved, and afford additional protection to the community at large, viz :

Persons following the occupation of boatmen for a livelihood, or whose business requires the use or employment of boats, should be licensed as well as their boats.

No person should be licensed unless a citizen of the United States, and no person should be licensed to carry passengers and attend shipping, unless he be a professional boatman, and has followed the business for five years, and is owner of the boat so to be used. This class of boatmen should be required to pay a license fee of at least ten dollars.

Section six could with propriety and advantage be repealed; and all owners and consignees required to obtain a permit to board vessels. Others, whose business requires them to visit vessels, such as stevedores, ship chandlers, &c., should be required to procure a license therefor, and all boatmen be prohibited from carrying any person to or from a vessel, except the captain or other officer thereof, unless said person shall produce a license or permit for such purpose, violation of which provision should be punished as a misdemeanor, and license be forfeited.

Keepers of junk shops are generally keepers of junk boats, and in order that they may be under better control, their licenses should issue from this department.

Since the passage of this law, many persons have evaded its provisions by boarding vessels from steam tug-boats, and even from the United States revenue boats.

These boats, as a general thing, have no right to carry passengers, and if allowed to do so, should pay a license therefor, and be placed under same restrictions as small boats, as far as regards the carrying of persons who have no license to go on board vessels.

GEORGE H. SHELDON,

Inspector.

To the Assembly:

I respectfully transmit the Report of the Commissioners of the Metropolitan Police Department for the year 1867.

R. E. FENTON.

CENTRAL DEPARTMENT METROPOLITAN POLICE, }
No. 300 MULBERRY STREET, NEW YORK, Dec. 23, 1867. }

At a meeting of the Board of Metropolitan Police held this day, the following, among other proceedings, were had :

A draft of an annual report of the Board for the year 1867 having been read and approved, it was

Resolved, That the report be signed by the President and Chief Clerk, and, together with the documents referred to therein, transmitted to his Excellency the Governor.

S. C. HAWLEY, Chief Clerk Met. Police.

REPORT.

To the Governor of the State of New York:

The Board of Metropolitan Police, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 403 of the Laws of 1864, respectfully transmit this, their Annual Report, for the year ending November 1st, 1867, upon the condition of the Metropolitan police force.

STATION HOUSES IN NEW YORK.

Tenth Precinct.—The comptroller has purchased two lots of ground on Eldridge street, between Broome and Grand streets, for the use of the Metropolitan police. The dimensions are fifty by one hundred. The location is central and eligible. The Board has entered into a contract for the erection of a station house and prison, which it is expected will be completed and ready for use by the first day of May, 1868.

The comptroller paid for the lots $24,500. The buildings will cost about $50,000.

It is believed that this will be the best station house and prison in the Metropolitan police district.

Twenty-first Precinct.—The comptroller has purchased the premises leased and occupied as station house and prison, paying therefor $21,000. Provision was made for the purchase and alteration of this property in the tax levy of 1866, to the extent of $35,000. After paying for the property, $14,000 remains to pay the cost of alterations, additions and repairs. This department has made arrangements for the needed alterations and repairs. When completed, the establishment will be convenient and well adapted to the use for which it is intended, at a very moderate cost.

Twenty-ninth Precinct.—The excessive price charged for real estate in this precinct, with the popular opposition to the location of a station house, have defeated all attempts to purchase at a reasonable price, premises for a station house for this precinct. This department is therefore compelled to proceed to build a station house on the unoccupied plat of public ground bounded by Thirty-second street, Sixth avenue and Broadway. In 1865 there was provided in the tax levy $40,000 to build a station house on the plat of ground above mentioned. That sum is not sufficient; an additional $10,000 will be required.

Eighth Precinct.—The station house of this precinct has become old, dilapidated, and unfit for occupation. This department has made a contract for repairing, and in part rebuilding the premises. The inspectors of buildings have condemned a large portion of the walls, and require them to be taken down and rebuilt. It is expected that the premises will be ready to be occupied by the first of May next.

Extensive repairs have been made on the station houses and prisons of the Second, Sixth, Ninth and Seventeenth Precincts.

The Third and Fourteenth Precinct station houses require to be extensively repaired, and in part rebuilt, with additions.

Fifth Precinct.—The station house and prison of this precinct are situated on a lot twenty-five feet by one hundred, surrounded on all sides by very high buildings, so that no sufficient light can be secured. The building is ill arranged, dilapidated, insufficiently lighted and unhealthy. Land in that locality, has become very valuable, and is sought for as sites for elegant stores. It would be good policy to authorize the comptroller of the city to sell this property, and purchase a site in a location less expensive, but equally suitable for police purposes.

Thirty-second Precinct.—A contract has been made for enlargement of this station house, making the building 40x60, with a prison containing seven cells, and ample room for transient lodgers. It is rapidly approaching completion, and will cost from nine to ten thousand dollars. The thirty-second precinct is composed of that portion of New York Island above One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, and west of Eighth avenue, and is served in part by a horse patrol. The stable is cheaply built, old, and quite insufficient for the purpose. A new stable ought to be erected during the year.

The two lots adjoining are needed for the business of the precinct, and ought to be purchased while they can be had at a reasonable price.

Eleventh Precinct.—Measures ought to be taken during the year to procure a new site and station house for this precinct, and remove the force from their unsuitable apartments over Union market.

Twenty-eighth Precinct.—This precinct is situated on the North river, bounded southerly by Canal street. It is fully built up, and has a dense population. The premises occupied for station house are leased, and are unsuitable. Premises ought to be procured, by purchase, for a station and prison for this precinct.

BROOKLYN STATION HOUSES.

Forty-first Precinct.—The station house of this precinct has been repaired and put in order.

In the Forty-second Precinct additions and repairs have been made by the corporate authorities of Brooklyn, but in a manner, so defective as to require further repairs immediately.

In the Forty-third Precinct a new and commodious station house is in process of construction, to be completed about the first of February next.

In the Forty-fourth and Forty-eighth Precincts there is required an additional story to the station house, and a prison in the yard of each.

In the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Precincts the station houses are sufficient and in good order, except that in the forty-sixth a sewer is required.

The station house of the Forty-ninth Precinct is a new house, in fine order.

Fiftieth Precinct.—The station house of this precinct is leased property. New and better accommodations ought to be procured.

Richmond county constitutes the Fifty-first Precinct of the Metropolitan police district. The force is divided—a portion occupying the station at the village of Edgewater, formerly called Stapleton, and a portion at the sub-station at New Brighton. The station house and sub-station house are rented from year to year. It is desirable to secure permanent buildings for the principal station.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

The town of Yonkers is a sub-precinct, connected with the thirty-second precinct, New York, which it adjoins. The station house in the village of Yonkers has been rented for a term of five years from first May, 1867. Cells for detaining persons arrested, and rooms for lodging transient persons, provided. A stable has been constructed for the horses of the horse patrol, forming a very convenient establishment, at the rent of $900 per year.

The town of West Farms is also a sub-precinct, connected with the thirty-second precinct, which it adjoins. The station house is in the village of Tremont. The building belongs to the town, and was formerly used as a school-house. Cells have been constructed for detaining persons under arrest, and a stable constructed for the horses of the horse patrol. The station house is well located and convenient.

Persons convicted of offences, punishable by imprisonment in the county jail, are transported from Yonkers and West Farms to White Plains, the county seat, where the jail is situated. Safety and economy require that they should be transferred from the places of trial to the jail in the custody of the police. The power of the police to hold the prisoners while being thus transferred is not sufficiently clear. Provision should be made by law requiring the judgments or orders of commitments to be made by the magistrates, to be executed by the police.

HOUSE OF DETENTION OF WITNESSES.

The report No. 1, in relation to the house of detention for witnesses, shows that during the year 249 persons committed from New York have been detained an aggregate of 3,412 days; 13 persons committed from Brooklyn have been detained an aggregate of 727 days. Total time 4,139 days of detention.

This method of securing the attendance in criminal cases, of witnesses on the part of the people, is an improvement upon the former method of committing them to the prison where criminals were confined. But it is, nevertheless, subject to objections, and is the occasion of great and needless hardship in many cases.

It not unfrequently occurs that worthy persons, who are not residents of the city, or citizens of New York or Brooklyn, who are unable to furnish bail, having the misfortune to possess some knowledge of the commission of the criminal offence for which a party is arrested, are confined in the house of detention, while the guilty party is allowed to go at large on bail. After long delay the accused party, not unfrequently, is acquitted—discharged without bail, or forfeits his recognizance; and this proceeding results in punishing most severely the innocent but unfortunate witness, while the criminal escapes.

This wrong ought not to exist if there is any remedy consistent with a vigorous enforcement of the criminal laws.

It is supposed that the Legislature has the power to remedy this mischief by an amendment of the Practice in criminal cases, so that any witness committed to the house of detention shall be entitled to have his testimony taken by the district attorney, on proper notice to the prisoner, or the counsel of the prisoner, affording an opportunity for cross-examination, and to be thereupon discharged on his own recognizance if unable to procure bail for his appearance at the trial.

LOST AND STOLEN PROPERTY.

The quantity and value of property lost or stolen, reclaimed, taken care of, restored to owners or otherwise disposed of by the police in pursuance of law, is very considerable.

A large portion of the property is claimed by owners, and delivered to them at the precincts. Other portions are sent to the care of the property clerk at the central department, by whom, if not claimed and delivered, it is sold, and the proceeds disposed of in pursuance of law.

It appears by the report of the property clerk annexed, marked No. 2, that for the year ending October 31st, 1867, the value of the property delivered to claimants at the several precincts, and by the detective and court squads, as estimated and valued by the claimants respectively, was $1,630,002.38. The value of the property, valued in like manner, delivered from the property clerk's office, was $533,825.86. A portion of the property not being claimed was sold in pursuance of law, the proceeds of which was $5,763.24. Total $2,169,591.48.

The expenses attending the management of this vast amount of property were $1,101.69. The balance of the proceeds of sales $4,661.55 was, in pursuance of the statute, paid over to the police life insurance fund.

It thus appears that the ultimate aggregate loss to the owners, including all expenses, was less than 3 77-100 per cent upon the value of the property.

HEALTH OF THE POLICE FORCE AND RETIRING PENSIONS.

It appears by the annexed report of the surgeons, marked No. 3, and the table of sick time in the report of the chief clerk, marked No. 13, that the total time lost by sickness for the year was 25,027 days, of which 14,954 $\frac{1}{4}$ days were paid, and 10,072 $\frac{3}{4}$ days unpaid, being 5,330 days less than for the year 1866. The amount paid for sick time was \$49,229.37, being \$17,482.40 less than the amount paid in 1866.

The number of deaths during the year was twenty-four (24).

Of this number, Robert S. McChesney, of the eighth precinct, on the 19th of October was killed by violence while in the discharge of police duty.

So long as the policy of paying patrolmen for time lost by sickness is pursued, the pecuniary aspect of the question will be worthy of attention. The time lost by sickness during the year is over sixty-eight years of one man, or a fraction over sixty-eight men for one year.

It is apparent that in a force of men appointed to office for life, a large share of the force are by lapse of time likely to become old, and subject to the diseases and infirmities of age. From this cause a constantly increasing amount of lost time may be expected.

For the purpose of ascertaining the present age of the force, a census has been taken. The result will be seen by reference to the report of the superintendent, marked No. 4.

On the first of November last, the average age of the officers of the several ranks of the force was : Captains, 46 years 6 months; sergeants, 40 years 10 months; patrolmen, 35 years 6 months. The average of all ranks was 36 years 1 month. The average of doormen was 47 years.

The present average age of the force is very near the prime of life; but in respect to health and physical vigor, qualities most essential in policemen, it is full five years past the prime of life. The mutations of the force by death, dismissal, resignations and new appointments, cannot be expected to materially reduce the average. These circumstances indicate the propriety of the adoption of more effective measures for retiring on adequate pensions, the older members of the force, whose physical vigor shall have become so far impaired as to render them incapable of performing full police duty.

The Legislature, at its last session, amended the law creating the Police Life Insurance Fund, with a view of extending its benefits to a larger class of members, but the section was so framed as to limit the extension of the pension to a very small class, and those only the widows of members who shall be killed in the service; the whole section ought to be revised so as to apply to members of the force who become superannuated.

LODGING HOUSES.

The station houses have connected with them rooms for lodging vagrant persons who are not charged with any offense. During the inclement season, these rooms are often entirely insufficient to lodge the numbers who apply for shelter on cold or stormy nights. They are, from necessity, on some occasions, sent from one station house to another; and there are times when no room is to be found for them.

Those who apply for this accommodation are the most wretched of our population. They cannot be committed to prison. It would not be creditable to the government to allow them to freeze to death in the streets. The accommodation now afforded is insufficient, and cannot be enlarged in our station houses.

It would be a charity well bestowed, to provide, independent of the station houses, auxilliary lodging houses, under the charge of the police, to be located in different portions of the city where the population is dense, of sufficient dimensions to receive all those wretched people who cannot be accommodated in the existing lodging rooms.

Four or six such establishments, built and adapted to the use, could be maintained at very moderate current expense.

In seven years, from 1861 to 1867, inclusive, the number of these lodgers has been 603,500, which is an average of 86,214 per year. (See table annexed, marked No. 5.)

They are supplied with a place to sleep upon naked wooden platforms, without beds or bed clothing, in rooms kept sufficiently warm to secure them from suffering, or danger from cold. Separate apartments for men and women are provided.

Though this accommodation is of the plainest and cheapest possible character, it is of great value to the miserable persons who, in great numbers, resort to them. Perhaps no equal expenditure of the public money, in any department, confers a larger benefit upon those who are considered proper subjects of the care of the government.

This department is informed, by the observations of its members in all parts of the city, that already the number of persons suffering from extreme destitution, is large beyond example; and it is expected, that as the cold season progresses, the sufferings of the poor will demand for their relief, all the energies of the organized charities, both official and voluntary.

The attention of the charitable is earnestly directed to the subject, in the hope that there may be set on foot among our citizens who are blessed with the means, some further organized and systematic effort to relieve the sufferings of the wretched poor in New York and Brooklyn.

EXCISE LAW.

The act to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors within the Metropolitan police district of the State of New York, was passed April 14, 1866, and by its terms, took effect immediately.

The board of excise created by it, was organized and entered upon its duties on the first day of May, 1866. The history of the operations of the board covers eight months in 1866, and to December 1st, eleven months in 1867; nineteen months in all.

That the use of intoxicating liquors, as a beverage, interferes seriously with the welfare and happiness of the people—that its habitual use is dangerous—and its excessive use destructive to all its victims; that of all the social evils, the vice of drunkenness produces the most universal injury to mankind, cannot be denied by any candid and intelligent persons.

It is therefore proper that the Legislature should provide by law for its regulation, restriction or prohibition, by such enactments as shall, by the sovereign people of the State, be deemed necessary, proper and expedient.

The law in question was enacted because the sovereign people considered that the safety and welfare of the people of the State required that the sale of intoxicating liquors, to be used as a beverage, should be subjected to regulation and restriction.

With that view, the law provides, among other things: 1st. That intoxicating liquors shall not be sold by any person, in small parcels, within the district, without a license from the board of excise. 2d. That it shall not be sold by those who are licensed, between the hours of 12 o'clock at night and sunrise of week days, nor on election days or Sundays.

The provision, first above mentioned, has had the effect to largely decrease the number of places kept for the sale of intoxicating drinks. Previous to the first of May, 1866, the number of such places in New York and Brooklyn, was nine thousand two hundred and seventy (9,270). On the first of December, 1867, the number was 6,845, showing a diminution of 2,425. That number of apartments have ceased to be dram shops, and are devoted to other and better uses. Including the proprietors, bartenders, servants and families, the persons concerned in each dram shop must average in number as high as five each. Thus, by the operation of the law, not less than 12,125 persons have ceased to be concerned in vending injurious drinks, and have undertaken some other, and it is to be hoped, better occupations.

The effect of the law upon the public peace and order has been marked, and most marked during the days and hours when the law is most restrictive in its operations. This is illustrated by a comparison of the arrests made on Sundays, when the prohibition applies to the whole twenty-four hours, and Tuesdays, when it applies only to the hours of the night, between 12 o'clock and sunrise.

The figures are given for May and June, 1866, during which months the enforcement of the law was not defeated by injunctions from the courts; and for eleven months of the year, 1867, from January to November, both inclusive, after the injunctions were dissolved. (See table marked No. 6.)

It thus appears that during thirteen months, under the operation of the law, the arrests of Tuesdays, for offenses actually resulting from the excessive indulgence in intoxicating drinks, numbered 6,021, while the arrests on Sundays for the like offenses, was 2,514. Excess of Tuesdays over Sundays, 3,507.

Previous to the enactment of the excise law, the arrests for the above causes on Sunday, uniformly exceeded in number like arrests on Tuesday. Thus, in 1865, in eight months, from May to December, inclusive, the arrests of Sunday were 3,515; of Tuesdays, 3,380. Excess of Sunday over Tuesday, 135.

It should be observed that a large share of the Sunday arrests, since the excise law has been enforced, were of persons who obtained liquor outside of the excise district, and fell in an intoxicated condition, into the hands of the police, on their return into the district.

Those who, upon a partial view of the subject, indulge the opinion that the law is arbitrary, despotic or subversive of valuable, natural, political or social rights, would do well to consider that, during six days of the week, the sale of liquor at the dram shops is restrained only from midnight to sunrise, when honest and orderly people ought to be in their beds; and that the law applicable to the Sabbath does not apply to selling drams only, but prohibits all commercial traffic except in drugs, and a few articles of necessary food, for a few hours in the morning. During six days in the week the sale is prohibited on an average of the days of the year, but five hours and fifty-seven minutes in the twenty-four hours; and no one is at any time of any day or night restrained from drinking it. During 109 hours of each week, all are at liberty to purchase and drink the means of intoxication in over six thousand places, well distributed and conveniently located throughout the cities of New York and Brooklyn.

It should be further considered, that during the six days of the week all persons have the right to provide themselves with the means of intoxication, and may lawfully drink it unmolested during the whole time, nights and Sundays included.

These facts considered, it can scarcely be claimed that the right to indulge the injurious appetite for intoxicating drinks is, in a practical sense, unreasonably infringed.

Though the dram shops are diminished in number, there are still quite enough to supply the demand, and those who are licensed are greatly benefited by being secured a monopoly of the very profitable traffic.

It is known to all that a very large share of the taxes with which the property of New York and Brooklyn is burthened, is imposed to defray the expenses of the crimes, disorders, pauperism and diseases produced or aggravated by intemperance. It seems proper that a traffic which imposes such serious expenses on the citizen should be made to contribute freely to the payment of these expenses.

Under the law in question, for the first time in the recent history of the city, the sale of intoxicating drinks by unlicensed persons may be said to be generally prevented; and for the first time the revenue derived from the injurious traffic have reached an amount worthy of the attention of the tax payers.

During the first year commencing with May 1st, 1866, the date when the board of excise was organized, to the 1st of April, 1867, the sum received by the treasurer of the board of excise for licenses and fines was $1,295,449.26.

During the second year from April 1st, 1867, to December 6th, 1867, the sum received for licenses and fines was $1,288,098.70. Total, $2,583,547.96.

The expense of the collection of this considerable revenue has not exceeded three per cent upon the amount received.

If this law is allowed to remain unrepealed, and continues to be properly administered, the revenues will pay off the city debt in a very few years, and relieve the tax-payers from the most vexatious of all burthens—taxes to pay interest on public debt.

It should be noticed that in New York and Brooklyn the sale of intoxicating drinks is practically prohibited on the days of election.

In former years the day or days of election were occasions of riot, violence and disorder, to an extent which caused them to be a source of dread and apprehension to all orderly persons. There has been in recent years a most marked change and improvement in this respect. Now the days of election are noticed as days of quiet and good order, even when compared with ordinary secular days.

In some degree this gratifying improvement may be attributed to the change in the law providing one day for holding the elections, instead of three, and the substitution of small districts in the place of towns and wards as election districts; but it is, however, chiefly due to the prohibition and suppression of the sale of intoxicating drinks on election days.

There were cast at the late general election in New York city 112,000, and at the charter election over 104,000 votes, with a facility and a degree of order and quiet unknown under the former system, when free trade in rum was allowed.

Though days of election are occasions of excitement and party contest, calculated to stimulate the passions and beget strife and violence, it appears from the number of arrests on the days of election, compared with other secular days, that the election days were not distinguished by any unusual disturbance of the public peace and order.

No such result could possibly have occurred under the former law, when the dram shops were open and intoxicating drinks were one and a chief means of producing political or party results.

BUREAU OF ELECTIONS.

Attention is called to the report of the keeper of election records, in relation to the business of that bureau, No. 7.

The election law provides that when the votes of an election district exceed 500 in number the common council are to sub-divide and increase the number of districts. Under this provision the number of districts has been largely increased. As a consequence of the change of population, caused by the growth of business and change in its location, the number of votes in several districts of the city has become much reduced, several of the districts polling less than 300 votes at the late election, and some less than 100 each.

The law ought to be so amended as to require the common council to consolidate and reduce the number of districts in cases where the vote polled at a general election does not equal say 300 votes.

Under the present system the expenses of elections are too large, and are constantly increasing. The cost bears no relation to the number of votes cast, but is determined by the number of election districts. The average cost per district for the two elections, State and charter, was for the present year $265.

There is no difficulty in receiving and canvassing 300 votes in any one district. At the late election over 600 were polled in each of 21 districts. If the minimum poll upon which districts were constructed was fixed at 300, the territory of the districts in New York would not be inconveniently large.

The number of districts polling less than 300 votes at the late general election, was 47. By reconstructing the districts on the basis of a minimum of 300 votes, the number of districts would have been reduced about 30.

By a proper reduction in the number of districts, and dispensing with one of the two days now unnecessarily devoted to correcting the register, there could be saved from $12,000 to $15,000 annually, on the expenses of elections in the city of New York.

DEATH OF COMMISSIONER BERGEN.

The Hon. John G. Bergen, one of the Commissioners of Metropolitan Police, died on the 18th of July, 1867. His death was a serious loss to his associates and to the public service. The sentiments of his associates, in relation to his excellent character, and his worth as a public officer and citizen, are expressed in the proceedings of the Board, on the 20th of July, 1867, on which occasion, on the report of Mr. Commissioner Bosworth, a preamble and resolution were unanimously adopted, as follows :

Whereas, It has pleased Divine Providence to remove from the scenes of this world, on the 18th of July, 1867, the Hon. John G. Bergen, who held, at the time of his death, the office of Police Commissioner of the Metropolitan police district of the State of New York, and as the surviving members of the Police Board, his intimate official associates, desire to express their views of his virtues as a man, a citizen and public officer, as well as their grief for his loss ; therefore they make the following brief record, and adopt the following resolutions :

The deceased was born on the 4th of December, 1814, and has passed his life and died near the place of his birth. His parents were eminently worthy and respectable, and their virtues have been honored by the creditable and useful life of the deceased.

The deceased was an honest man, of sound judgment and practical discriminating intelligence. He took an earnest interest in an upright, economical and efficient management of public affairs. He kept these objects steadily in view in performing the duties of the various offices which he has been selected to fill, whether acting as supervisor in his native county, or as one of its representatives in the Legislature of this State, or as a member of the Board of Education of the city of Brooklyn, or as a member of the Police Board, or of the Board of Health, or of the Excise Board of this district, his efforts were alike directed to just results, and to efficiency and economy in producing them.

For a little more than the last seven years of his life, he was a Police Commissioner ; and during all that period was treasurer of the Police Board, except two years, when that office was worthily filled by the Hon. Wm. McMurray. Whatever his confidence in the able assistants who kept the treasurer's books, he always had a vigilant oversight of the details of that office, and saw that every thing was accurate.

The deceased was one of the three Commissioners by whom the building known as the "Central Department of Metropolitan Police" was designed, erected and completed. Its adaptation to the wants of the department, its materials and workmanship, and its moderate cost to the public, render it a continuing proof of the value of the public services of the deceased, and of those then officially associated with him.

As a Police Commissioner the deceased endeavored to continually elevate and increase the efficiency of the police force. In appointing members of the force to office, it was his aim to reward merit, and to make this fact so apparent that it should operate at all times as an incentive to duty, upon all the members of the force.

In determining the punishment to be inflicted on policemen who had violated the rules of the department, or had failed in some duty, he did not forget that they were men, and whenever satisfied that the error was an unintentional failure, he was lenient.

In his personal and official intercourse with the other members of the Board, he was frank and free, but courteous in expressing his opinions. He gave to opposing views, the consideration to which he thought them entitled. When upon full reflection, and in light of all the information brought to bear upon any subject, he had formed clear convictions of what was right, he adhered to his convictions with unyielding tenacity.

His relations as a citizen and as a man were, in all respects, highly creditable, and he enjoyed and deserved the confidence of all classes and interests in the community.

After he was assailed by disease, and it was apparent to others that he was rapidly losing health and strength, he continued to give his personal attention to the duties of his office, when all but himself thought that he should relieve himself of their burthen, and devote himself to improving his health if possible, and prolonging his years, with a view to the happiness of his family to whom he was fondly attached, and who watched him with affectionate interest and regard.

Resolved, That in the death of Hon. John G. Bergen, this Board, the police department and the public, have lost a valuable and efficient public officer, and the experience and tried abilities of a capable and honest man.

Resolved, That in the various public offices which he has held, as well as in those he filled at the time of his death, he has displayed uniformly a high sense of justice and regard for what was right, and a conscientiousness and practical discretion in the performance of duty, well worthy of imitation, which endeared him to those who knew him most intimately, and which will command the respect and homage of all who shall hereafter become familiar with his useful though unostentatious career.

Resolved, That the surviving members of this Board sympathize with the widow, children and relatives of the deceased in their great bereavement, and with them appreciate the many virtues of the deceased which have contributed largely to the happiness of the family circle, and the memory of which will soften the anguish of mourning hearts.

Resolved, That this record and these resolutions be entered at length on the minutes of the Board, and that an engrossed copy, signed by the surviving members, be transmitted by the president of the Board, to the widow and family of the deceased.

The vacancy occasioned by the death of Mr. Bergen, remains to be filled by the Legislature.

LOST CHILDREN.

The number of lost children taken charge of by the police, restored to parents, and otherwise disposed of, for the series of years from 1861 to 1867, both inclusive, appear by the table annexed, marked No. 8.

It is gratifying to observe that the number has somewhat decreased during the three years last past. The average of the last three years is 7,295. The average of the four years preceding 1865, is 9,393.

BUREAU OF BOAT INSPECTION.

Attention is called to the report of the inspector of boats appended hereto, marked No. 9.

It is apparent that while the decision of the recorder remains unreversed, no action can be taken to punish those who violate its provisions.

BOILER INSPECTION.

During the year there have occurred two explosions of stationary steam boilers in the Metropolitan police district, attended, each of them, with serious destruction of property and human life. The particulars of these disasters are set forth in the annexed report of Captain Lord, of the sanitary company, marked No. 10, to which attention is solicited.

It appears that these boilers were constructed in a form calculated to produce the results which actually happened; and that tests by hydrostatic pressure do not afford, in such cases, sufficient assurance that explosions will not occur.

It is probable that the numerous explosions of steam boilers, which have occurred in various sections of the country, have been in many instances due to the injudicious forms of their construction. Inasmuch as the evil is not confined to the Metropolitan police district, it is a question worthy of consideration whether some legislation should not be adopted for the whole State, calculated to protect the lives and property of the citizens against the frequent recurrence of these shocking explosions.

TENEMENT HOUSES.

Some attempts have been made to improve the form and character of buildings known as tenement houses. Perhaps some benefit has resulted from these attempts. Recent occurrences, however, prove in a very startling manner that the evil is by no means cured. Hundreds of thousands of our population sleep every night in habitations where escape from injury or death, in case of fire, seems scarcely possible. Those who are thus exposed to a horrible death by fire have no choice of habitations. They must live as they do, or not at all.

Under such circumstances neither the public authorities of the city, nor the Legislature of the State, can be considered blameless while any measures of safety which they can provide for these unfortunate people remain unsupplied.

CARRYING CONCEALED DEADLY WEAPONS.

In the report of this Board in the years 1865 and 1866, attention was called to the lamentable and wanton destruction of human life, resulting from the reprehensible practice of carrying on the person pistols, dirks, knives and other deadly weapons. During the year past there have occurred a large number of homicides, caused by this practice. Shooting and stabbing persons to death upon slight or no provocation, in the heat of passion, or under the influence of intoxicating drink, are of such frequent occurrence as scarcely to attract public attention.

Except occasional cases of deliberate murder with malice aforethought, homicides would be very rare, if the habit of carrying deadly weapons, intended to be used, if at all, in attacks upon human life, were suppressed. Attention is again respectfully called to this subject.

ARRESTS.

It appears by a table of arrests for a series of years, from 1860 to 1867, both inclusive, appended hereto, marked No. 11, that the total number of arrests in those eight years was 706,288, being an average of 88,286. The arrests for the year 1867 being 103,269 and 14,983 in excess of the average. The year past presents the largest number of arrests ever made in any one year.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The fiscal transactions of the department will appear by reference to the report of the treasurer of police, herewith transmitted, marked No. 12.

STATISTICAL REPORTS.

The reports of the chief clerk, containing exhibits of the transactions of the force during the year for New York, marked No. 13, for Brooklyn, No. 14, for Richmond county, No. 15, and for Westchester, No. 16, are appended.

These reports contain tables showing the number of the police force; the time lost by sickness and disability; also the number of arrests for the year; the offences for which arrests were made; the ages, social condition, nationalities and occupations of persons arrested, classified; and a table of incidental duties. In the last named table will appear the item of

BUILDINGS FOUND OPEN AND SECURED.

The number found open and secured by the police for the years 1861 to 1867 inclusive, have been as follows: 1861, 2,904; 1862, 3,206; 1863, 3,609; 1864, 4,128; 1865, 5,123; 1866, 6,293; 1867, 5,907. Total, 31,170.

These building thus carelessly left to the mercy of depredators, consist of stores and dwelling houses, by far the larger number being stores.

In the period of seven years the inexcusable carelessness of citizens has afforded to thieves and burglars over thirty-thousand opportunities for plunder.

Under such circumstances it is not a matter of surprise that burglaries and larcenies abound, notwithstanding the utmost vigilance of the police.

It is apparent from the above figures, that this habitual and culpable carelessness is increasing, the number of instances in 1867 being more than double the number that occurred in 1861.

THE METROPOLITAN POLICE FORCE.

It is gratifying to observe that the health of the force is improved, its discipline fully maintained, and its efficiency year by year increasing. The careful scrutiny to which applicants for appointment are subjected, steadily adhered to, has had the effect to secure, on the whole, an improved grade of men. From these and other circumstances, a general improvement in the character, efficiency and value of the force has resulted.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF SURGEONS FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 1st, 1867.

To THOS. C. ACTON,

President of the Board of Police :

The Board of Surgeons of the Metropolitan police force, herewith presents its annual report for the year ending November 1st, 1867, giving in brief, a statement of its labors for the year, in the examination of candidates for appointments on the force, the investigation of cases referred to it by your honorable Board, the whole amount of sickness in the force, the average time to each man, the number of deaths and ratio of deaths, and also the sanitary condition of the station houses.

One thousand one hundred and twelve candidates for appointment in the force have presented themselves for medical examination; of which number five hundred and three were accepted as being sound of body and limb, and possessing robust constitutions; and of which six hundred and nine were rejected, because they lacked the essential pre-requisites.

The whole number of days lost by members of the force, through sickness and injuries, amounts to twenty-five thousand and twenty-seven days, this being five thousand eight hundred and thirty days less than last year.

The whole number of cases of sickness during the year, has amounted to two thousand nine hundred and seventy one, which make the average time lost by each sick man about eight days and a half.

Twenty-four members of the force have died during the year. It is not a little remarkable that this is the precise number of deaths each year for three years in succession. This number makes one death to one hundred and twenty-three cases of sickness. The death ratio for the year, has been less than ten in a thousand, less than one per cent—the precise rate being .9797 per cent. When we take into consideration the nature of the duties, and the necessary exposure consequent thereupon, this low death rate is remarkable, and vindicates the rigid method pursued in the physical examination of candidates for appointment.

The applications for pensions by widows of deceased policemen, who alleged that their husbands died in consequence of unusual exposure, or injuries received in the discharge of duty, were referred to the Board of Surgeons for investigation. One of these was reported upon as having established just claim upon the Police Life Insurance Fund, and one is not yet concluded.

Twenty-one cases of appeal from the decision of the district surgeons, have been heard by the full Board, in cases where the appellant demanded sick pay.

There have been thirteen cases referred by your Board for special investigation and report. One case examined by the Board proved to be a case of insanity.

The two thousand nine hundred and seventy-one cases of sickness have been attended and visited daily by the district surgeons at the respective houses of the men, except in the few instances where the patient has been sent to the hospital.

All applicants for medical or surgical treatment, at the Central Office, have been treated and prescribed for by the surgeons, one of whom has been constantly in attendance, day and night, throughout the year.

The following list gives the number and classification of diseases from which the men have suffered:

There have been three hundred and seventeen cases of sudden sickness or accidents, applying for medical assistance at the various station houses, which have been prescribed for by the surgeons, and subsequently removed to their own homes or to the hospitals.

Each station house has been visited daily by one of the surgeons.

Condition of Station Houses.—It is a source of great pleasure to report that the condition of the various station houses, in respect to neatness and cleanliness, has been and is most excellent. The great care bestowed by the respective officers to keep the houses in order, and to secure cleanliness of the beds and bedding of the men, as showed in the marked and increasing improvement, is worthy of all commendation.

The Board of Surgeons desires at this time to again press upon your attention the necessity of securing thorough ventilation of the dormitories, by means of flues constructed in the walls of the buildings, as the only efficient method by which this desirable object can be attained. The complete ventilating of the prisoners' cells, is also a matter of the gravest moment, not alone because of the necessity of preventing sickness among prisoners and lodgers, but also to preserve the health of members of the force, who are greatly liable to contract disease from exposure to effluvia from the cells and lodgers' rooms. Now that several of the station houses are undergoing thorough repairs, this end can readily be accomplished at a comparatively trifling cost.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

President of the Board of Surgeons.

Secretary.

BUREAU OF ELECTIONS, December 1, 1867.To the Board of Police :

The city of New York, by the latest arrangement of the common council, contains two hundred and seventy election districts.

The city of Brooklyn has ninety-four election districts.

The selection of two thousand three hundred and forty-eight persons to perform the important duties of inspectors of registry and election, canvassers and poll-clerks in the former city, and of poll-clerks in the latter, is, under any circumstances a difficult task.

This difficulty is increased materially by the aversion of many citizens to the labor and responsibility of these positions.

Under direction of the board of police, the utmost care has been taken to select men of character, and in order that both political parties might be satisfied, both have been equally represented in each district.

If through any misapprehension, this rule has been violated, the error, upon a proper representation of the fact, has been promptly corrected.

The law prescribes that in all districts where the vote exceeded four hundred, at the last general election, the inspectors shall sit two days at their first meeting. Under this rule, there are, in New York, 159 districts in which the inspectors sat two days, and 111 districts in which the inspectors sat but one day.

All the boards of registry, at their second meeting, as the law requires, sat two days.

The amount required for the payment of inspectors, canvassers, poll clerks and lessors of polling places for the general election, is as follows :

159 districts, $163 each.....	$25,917 00
111 districts, $138 each.....	15,318 00
	<hr/>
	$41,235 00

At the charter election, the inspectors in all the districts are required to sit two days, for registration.

The amount required for the payment of inspectors, canvassers, poll clerks and lessors of polling places, for the charter election, is as follows :

270 districts, $113 each	$30,510 00

One day for the revision of the registry lists, prior to the charter election, would be amply sufficient, and thus effect a saving to the treasury, as follows :

270 districts, $25 each	$6,750 00

In several districts in the lower wards, but few habitations remain, and the vote in each has fallen considerably below one hundred.

It is therefore suggested, that the board of police recommend to the common council, a consolidation of some sparsely inhabited districts in the first, third and fifth wards, by which a considerable amount could be saved, without inconvenience to the electors.

It is also suggested, for the consideration of the board, if the duty of making these selections remain with them, that some means be adopted, to make the fact generally known, that the services of good citizens of both parties, who desire pure elections, will always be acceptable.

[Signed]

D. B. HASBROUCK,
Keeper of Election Records.

BUREAU BOAT INSPECTION, 300 MULBERRY ST., }
 NEW YORK, November 29, 1867. }

Commissioners Metropolitan Police :

Gentlemen—The operations of this bureau have been almost entirely suspended during the past year, owing to the action of the recorder of the city, who, in May last, decided the law creating it to be unconstitutional.

This decision has not been reviewed by the Supreme Court, and in the meantime the magistrates refuse to hold any persons, arrested for violation of the aforesaid law.

The last Legislature enacted several of the amendments suggested in my former report, together with some others of importance, but the law as amended remains a dead letter pending the action of the higher courts.

The transactions of the bureau during the past year, are as follows :

New licenses issued.....	790
Renewals	256
Yacht permits	31
Brokers' permits	13
Total.....	1,090

It is to be hoped that the courts will speedily give us the opportunity to put the amended law in force against the numerous lawless characters who infest our harbor, and under the guise of boatmen, commit robbery, and even murder, with comparative safety to themselves.

(Signed)

GEORGE H. SHELDON,
Inspector.

CENTRAL DEPARTMENT, MET. POLICE, 300 MULBERRY ST., }
 OFFICE OF THE SANITARY COMPANY, }
 NEW YORK, November 1st, 1867. }

THOMAS C. ACTON, Esq.,

President of the Board of Metropolitan Police:

Sir—I have the honor herewith to transmit to you the annual report of this branch of the Metropolitan Police Department, containing as will be found in tables annexed, the number of steam boilers examined, tested hydrostatically, their condition, &c.

The number of complaints of nuisances reported to the Metropolitan Board of Health, the number of orders served, issued by said board, the number complied with by owners or persons in charge of the property, and the number returned as not complied with; also, the amount of unsound or unhealthy meat, fish, &c., seized and removed, and number of dead animals removed from the city limits.

Respectfully, yours,

BOWEN G. LORD,

Captain Sanitary Company, Metropolitan Police.

EXAMINATION AND INSPECTION OF STEAM BOILERS.

There are six men detailed as inspectors of steam boilers, who examine and annually inspect and test hydrostatically, all stationary steam boilers known to be in use in the precincts of the Metropolitan Police District.

During the year ending October 31, 1867, there has been three explosions of steam boilers in the district to which I respectfully call your attention, and to the report of the inspectors hereto annexed.

And a statistical table of the number of steam boilers examined, tested hydrostatically, found defective, &c.

Also, a detailed report of the condition of ferry boats, running to and from New York.

NEW YORK, November 1st, 1867.

Captain B. G. LORD,

Sanitary Company Metropolitan Police :

Sir—Annexed, please find my annual report of ferry boats, running to and from New York, with statistics in tabular form for the year 1866. Also, general annual report of steam boilers in the district.

The ferry boats are generally in first rate condition. Many of the boats new, since my last report, and the old boats being generally reserved as spare boats.

During the year, 1866, about eighty millions of passengers crossed the different ferries (40) forty millions on the Brooklyn Union ferries, being about double the number of inhabitants of the United States, and this ratio about corresponds with my former reports.

The death rate is less on the New York ferries than in any place in the known world, where so great a number are on the move.

They are safer than stages, railroads, steamships, or any other conveyance in my knowledge.

The mishaps or accidents are noted in margin of statistical report, and we have it in affidavit of J. A. Perry, treasurer and director of the Union Ferry Company of Brooklyn, that only two persons have been killed on the boats of the company, during the space of the last thirty years.

Several of the ferries, viz: Staten Island, Hoboken and New York, and Communipaw ferries, have adopted the system of closed gates, to prevent passengers in egress and ingress, meeting on the boat or bridge.

This I believe to be of doubtful benefit to passengers, the annoyance being greater than the risk of personal safety, which risk I believe every one entitled to take for themselves, in proof of which I would cite the statistical remarks of the Brooklyn Union Ferry Co., (who have not adopted this system) and have lost no lives from among forty millions of passengers transported during the year 1866, averaging one thousand two hundred and fifty trips daily.

On many occasions over one hundred thousand persons cross the Fulton ferry in twenty-four hours.

In regard to the inspection and testing of boilers, you have the statistical record, also the examination of engineers.

Since September 16th, 1867, we have had in the district three severe explosions of steam boilers, resulting in the loss of life; on all of which you have special reports, to which please refer.

In neither case were the boilers inspected or tested by our department, and only one in which the person in charge was examined by us. In all these cases the person in charge was instantly killed.

Within the past seven years in which I have been in exercise of the duties of chief inspector, there has been but one case of explosion where we examined both boiler and engineer. In that case the engineer neglected his duty by leaving his boiler. Immediately after his return the boiler exploded, killing him and shattering the building.

In conclusion I would say that the boilers in this district are in general better condition than at any former period.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH E. COFFEE,

impossible to brace sufficiently for high pressure of steam. In this boiler there were two spaces of about two feet by six feet, in which there were no braces, the form of which spaces was but little stronger than a flat surface, one of which is the part first ruptured.

There were no signs of low water, on the contrary, there was every indication of there having been a sufficiency of water. The iron appears to be of ordinary good quality, and the workmanship fair. This boiler is almost identical in size and construction with one of the same patent which exploded on the steam lighter Enterprise, at the foot of West Thirty-eight street, in January last.

The engineer was examined in 1864 by this department, and was granted a license entitling him to take charge of any boiler in the Metropolitan district.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH E. COFFEE,

Chief of Bureau of Steam, Metropolitan Police.

We fully concur in the above report.

JOSEPH E. COFFEE, JR.,

THOMAS F. POWERS,

Boiler Inspectors, Metropolitan Police Dep't.

NEW YORK, October 18, 1867.

Capt. B. G. LORD, Sanitary Co., Metropolitan Police:

Dear Sir—I respectfully report that an explosion of a steam boiler occurred on yesterday, at Pier 45, North river, occupied and used by the Inman Steamship Co., of which John G. Dale, No. 15 Broadway, is the agent. The boiler which exploded was of the locomotive style, and had been in use for some time. It had not been reported to our department as the law provides, and consequently, had never been inspected or tested, and the person in charge of it was not examined or licensed by the police department. From such information as I was enabled to obtain from parties connected with the company, there were three persons killed, and three others seriously, and one slightly injured. Among the killed was Christopher Gorry, in charge of the boiler, and his son Nicholas Gorry; also a fireman from the steamship Baltimore, who was in the vicinity of the boiler at the time it exploded. The boiler was located on the extreme end of the pier, and encased in a frame building. The whole of the boiler, except two or three small pieces, was blown into the water, and consequently it is impossible to make an examination of it. The pieces left are, a portion of the side and roof of the boiler, a small piece of the front tube sheet, and a small piece of the inside portion of the fire box, and the bottom of the leg. From the appearance of the iron, there is no evidence of inferior material, and there is no doubt whatever in my mind that the explosion occurred from an excessive pressure of steam. At the time of the explosion, which was about 25 minutes to 1 P. M., the engine was not working, and from all I can ascertain, the person in charge was in the habit of banking his fire and letting the engine stand idle until starting again at 1 o'clock. I ascertained from Mr. James Armit, the master carpenter of the dock, who was frequently in the boiler room, that he had often seen a pressure of 130 pounds on the steam gauge, and that he had oftener seen the pressure over 100 pounds, than less.

The safety valve of this boiler was, I believe, a spring scale valve, which I consider not reliable, as the spring is liable to get out of order, and cannot be depended upon. I would say that I never knew of this boiler being on this pier, and I consider the owners amenable to the law for not having reported the same; and also for employing a person to act as engineer who did not have a certificate from this department.

The persons killed are Christopher Gorry, in charge of boiler; Nicholas Gorry, son of Christopher, blown into the water, body not yet found; Owen Kelly, fireman, on steamship Baltimore.

Injured seriously—William Kerr, blacksmith of the company; Thomas Kane, blacksmith's helper; Thomas Loftus, laborer.

Slightly injured—Drybrough Clerk.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOSEPH E. COFFEE, JR.,

Engineer and boiler Inspector, Metropolitan Police Dep't.

BROOKLYN, October 20th, 1867.

Capt. B. G. LORDS:

Sir—I herewith submit a report of an explosion of a steam boiler situated at and owned by the Erie Basin Dry Dock Co., Red Hook Point, Brooklyn, which occurred on Saturday, October 19th, 1867, at 4:30 A. M. Also the death of Michael Flannigan, the person in charge at the time.

Upon examination I find that the boiler is of a peculiar construction, being upright, of cylindrical form, about nine feet high by four feet diameter, with eighty-three horizontal tubes contained in a square shaped box forty-two inches high by thirty inches in diameter, having each alternate row of tubes at right angles, varying in size from four inches to two inches in diameter, the largest tubes at the bottom and the smallest at the top of the tube box.

It was impossible to make a thorough examination, as the shell of the boiler was thrown into the water a distance of about 150 feet, and being completely submerged.

Judging from the appearance of that portion of the boiler remaining (which consists of the water legs, tube box and connections) it was, in my opinion, very poorly stayed.

I examined the tube box, and could find no evidence of stays having been used to secure the shell to the box; the shell appeared to have been secured near the water leg by means of a flange with bolts and nuts, and at the top of tube box connection by the same means, being about six feet apart.

The bolt heads in the flanges were wrenched off or the bolts broken, many of them left remaining.

The boiler was never reported to this department, as the law requires, and I did not know of its being in use until this examination. The superintendent, Mr. Jos. F. Fifield, states that it was new, being in use about two or three months. It was designed by and constructed under the supervision of Wm D. Rich.

One of the engineers, Mr. Fifield, also states that at the time of the explosion, neither of the engineers, Mr. W. D. Rich and Chas. Holbrook, were on the premises.

Michael Flannigan, the person killed, who was not licensed by this department, but who was acting as fireman, was placed in charge of the boiler during the night.

As there was no evidence of low water, in my opinion, the explosion occurred from an over-pressure of steam.

Respectfully yours,

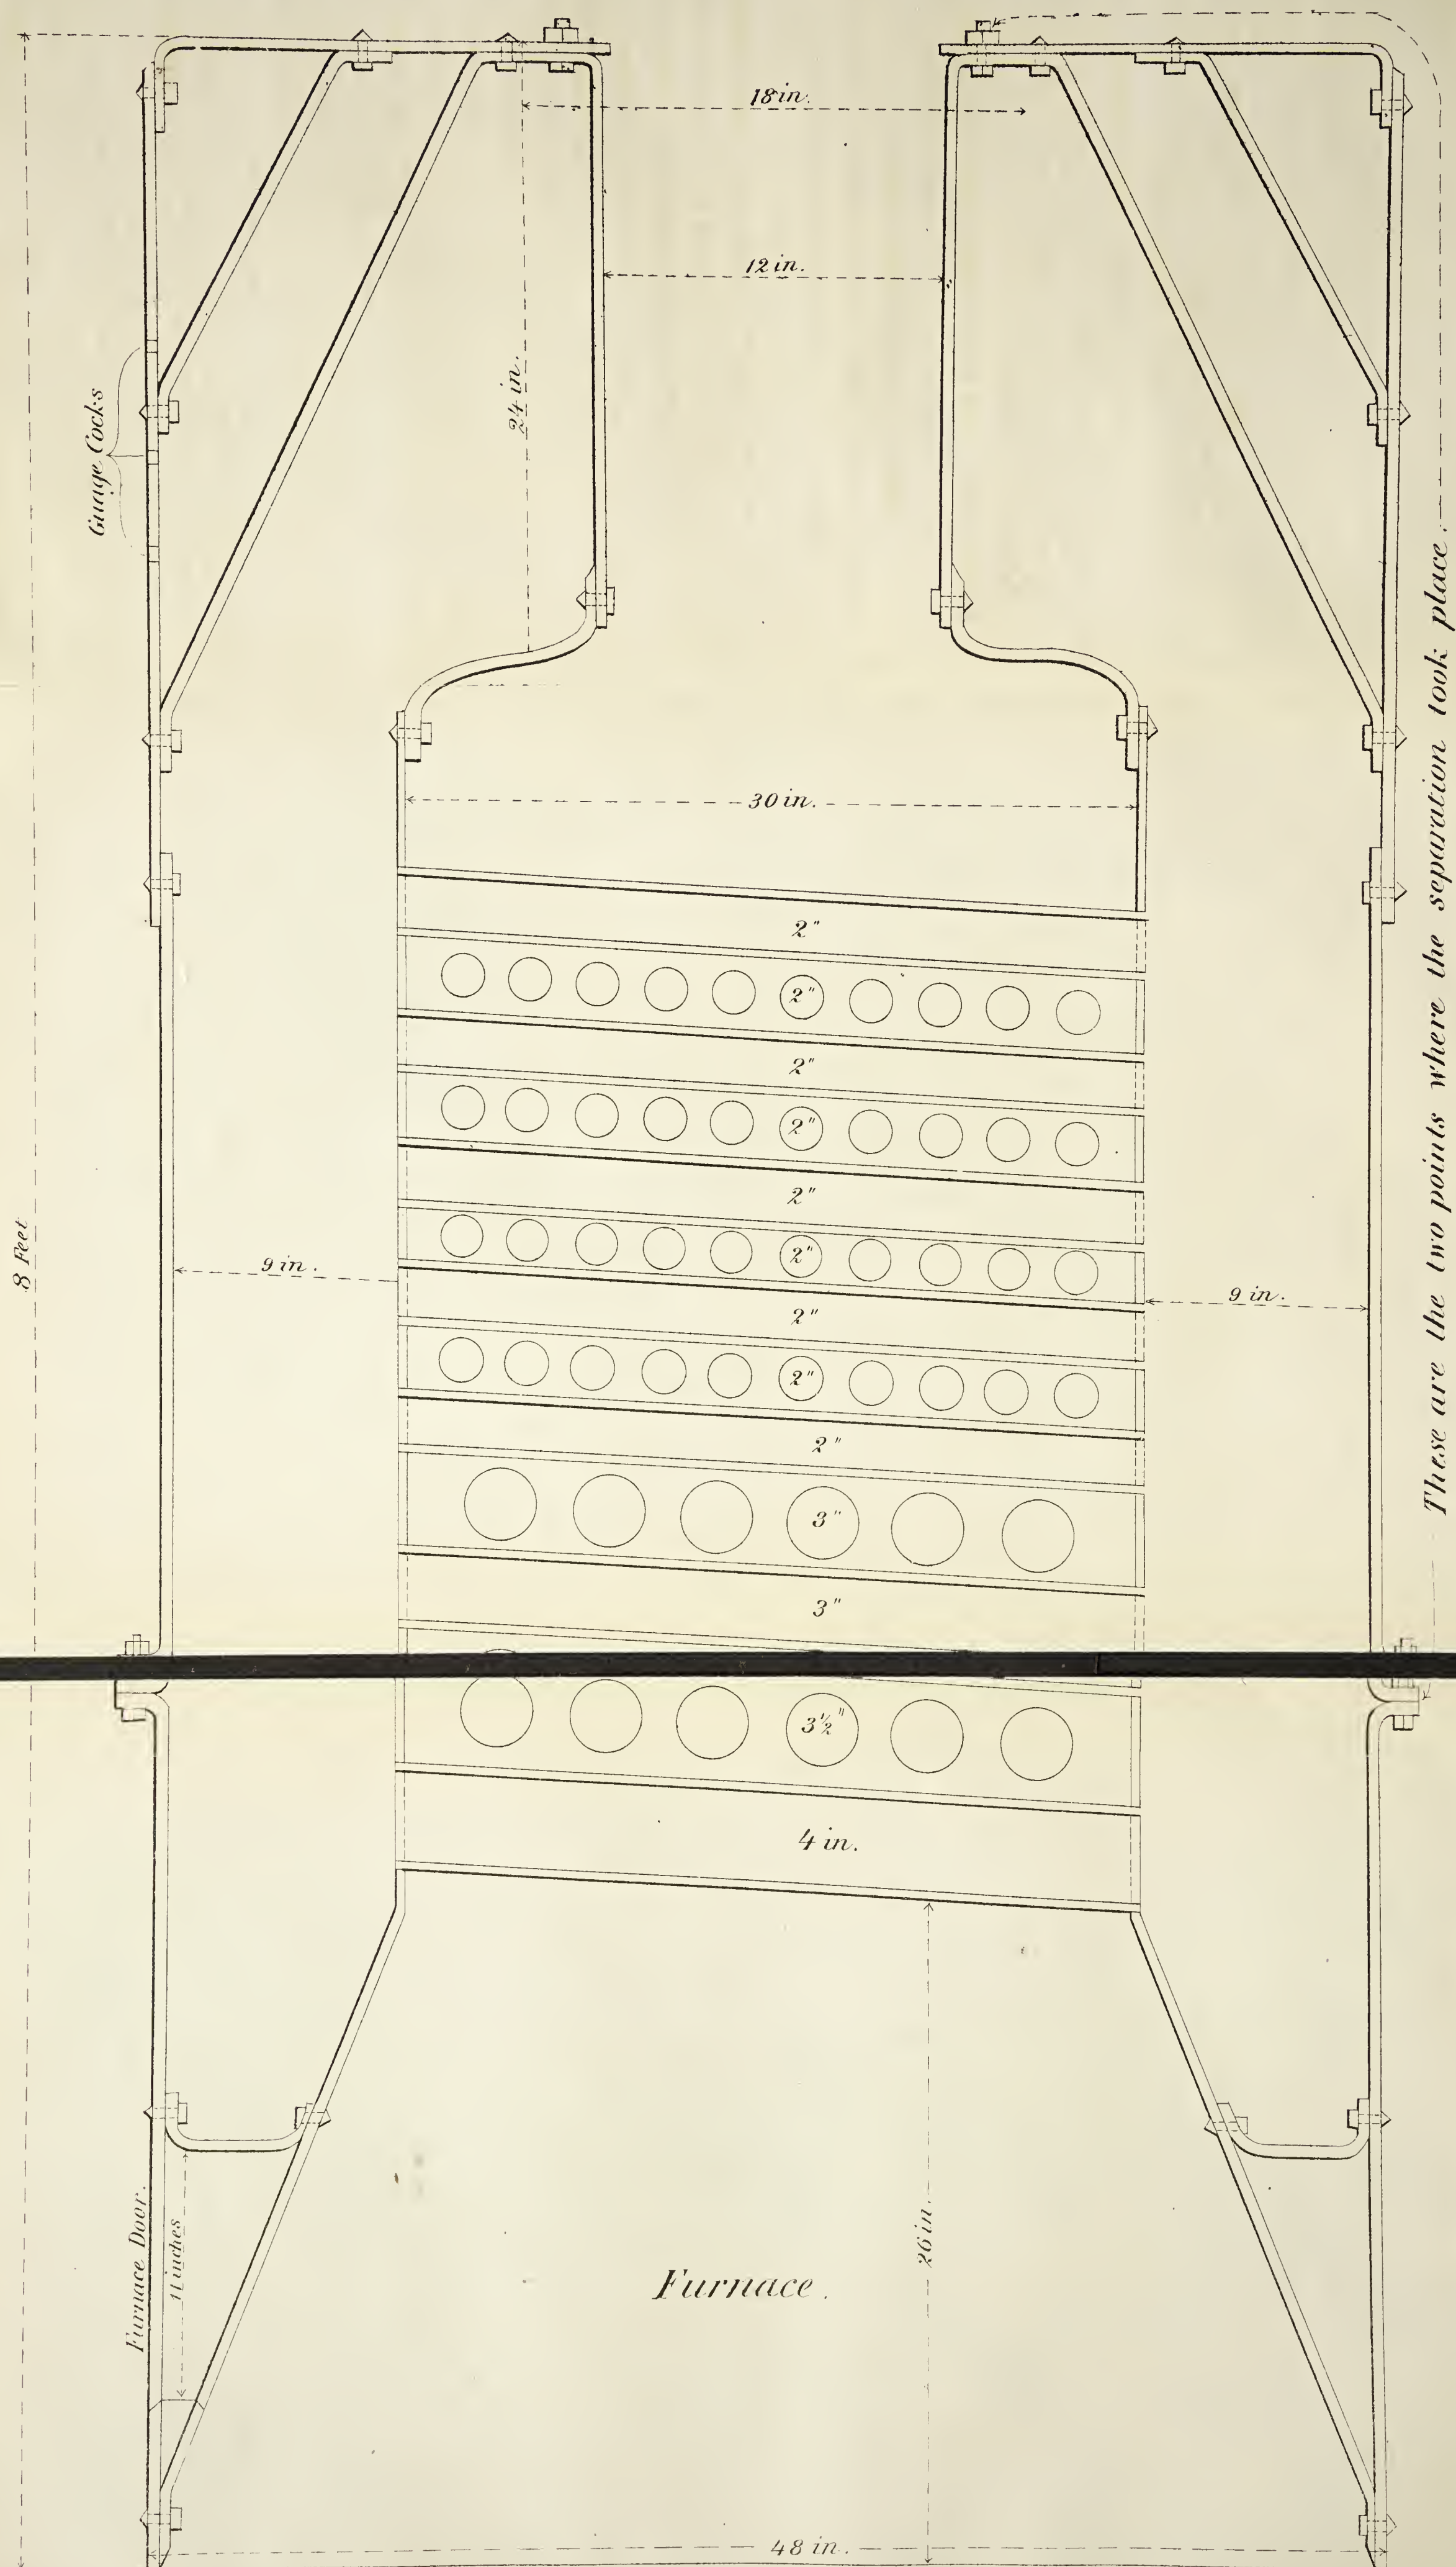

THOMAS F. POWERS,

Engineer and Boiler Inspector, Met. Police Dept.

CENTRAL DEPARTMENT OF METROPOLITAN POLICE,
No. 300 MULBERRY STREET,

New-York, December 26th, 1868.

At a meeting of the Board of Metropolitan Police, held this day, the following among other proceedings were had.

A draft of an Annual Report of the Board for the year, having been read and approved, it was

Resolved, That an engrossed copy of the Report be signed by the President and Chief Clerk, and, together with the documents referred to therein, transmitted to his Excellency the Governor.

S. C. HAWLEY,

Chief Clerk,

Metropolitan Police.

REPORT.

To the Governor of the State of New-York :

The Board of Metropolitan Police, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 403 of the laws of 1864, respectfully transmit their Annual Report for the year ending November 1, 1868, upon the condition of the Metropolitan Police Force.

STATION HOUSES IN NEW-YORK.

Since the last Report of the Board, the station house and prison accommodations for the use of the force, have been considerably improved.

In the TENTH PRECINCT, the new station house and prison, located on the west side of Eldridge street, numbers 87 and 89, which was in process of construction at the date of the last Report, has been completed and occupied by the Police Force.

In the EIGHTH, TWENTY-FIRST and THIRTY-SECOND PRECINCTS, where, at the date of last Report, work of repairs was in progress, the buildings have been completed and are occupied by the force. The buildings in these Precincts are excellent and of ample dimensions for any force likely to be required.

FIFTH PRECINCT. The Controller has purchased two lots, Nos. 19 and 21 Leonard street, between West Broadway and Hudson streets ; a location well adapted for the business of the Precinct. The Board of Metropolitan Police has entered into a contract for the erection of a first-class station house and prison. The work is so far advanced as to assure their being in a condition to be occupied by the force on the first of May next.

THIRD PRECINCT. In this Precinct the Board has made a contract for the thorough repair and enlargement of the station house and prison. When finished, the buildings will be as complete and well adapted to the use of the Police, as can be constructed on a single lot of land of the dimensions of 25 by 90 feet.

SEVENTH PRECINCT.—Has been, during the year, extensively and thoroughly repaired, and is now a comfortable and commodious establishment.

TWENTIETH PRECINCT.—The station house in this Precinct is upon a single lot of land 25 x 100, with the prison in the basement. To remedy, in a measure, this objectionable feature, the Board of Police has contracted for the construction of a prison and lodgers' rooms in a separate building in the rear of the lot. It is expected that it will be complete and ready for use by the 1st of February.

TWENTY-NINTH PRECINCT.—The Controller has purchased a plot of land 50 x 100 feet, on the north side of 30th street, between the 6th and 7th avenues, for a station house for the 29th Precinct. It is intended that a station house and prison shall be erected thereon during the year 1869.

THIRTY-FIRST PRECINCT.—A plot of ground 50 x 100 has been purchased on the south side of 100th street, between 9th and 10th avenues, for a station house and prison for this Precinct. Measures are in progress for the construction of proper buildings thereon during the year 1869.

NINETEENTH PRECINCT.—Has undergone extensive and thorough repairs and improvements.

The ELEVENTH, FOURTEENTH and TWENTY-EIGHTH PRECINCTS.—In the Report of last year the want of better accommodations in these Precincts, were noticed. The reasons then mentioned in favor of new and improved premises for the use of the Police Force still exist.

FIRST PRECINCT.—The station house of this Precinct consists of two warehouses situate on New street. The premises were leased in 1865, on a ten years' lease, at a rent of $3,000 per annum. The rate was exceedingly low at the time, and the changes in that part of the city have greatly increased the value of the premises. This lease might perhaps be now sold for a bonus, which would go far towards paying the cost of constructing new and appropriate buildings for Police purposes, if the city were possessed of a proper site for them. The great value of land, however, in that Precinct, would perhaps defeat such a measure. It has been suggested that a portion of the Battery, say 50 x 100 feet, might advantageously be devoted to this purpose, using the bonus received on the sale of the existing lease to build the buildings, and thus secure permanent and proper buildings without cost to the city. Considering the uses and abuses to which the Battery is now subject, no valid objection seems to exist to an appropriation of a section of the Battery 50 x 100 feet on the corner of Whitehall and State streets to the use suggested. For this purpose legislation would be required.

In the following Precincts, the property occupied as station houses and prisons, belongs to the City of New York :—the 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 26, 27 and 32.

In the following Precincts, the property occupied for like purpose, is leased :—1, 23, 25, 28, 29, 30 and 31.

The title to the premises occupied as the House of Detention of Witnesses, is vested in the City.

The title to the property occupied as Central Department of Metropolitan Police, is vested in the County of New-York.

HOUSE OF DETENTION OF WITNESSES.

In the last Annual Report of this Board, attention was called to the legal situation of unfortunate persons who are witnesses in criminal cases, and unable to give bail for their appearance at the trial of accused parties. The attention of the Legislature is again called to this important subject. It can scarcely be realized by the people, that in this age and country; where accused persons and convicted criminals are so humanely dealt with, there is an institution established by law (and well filled) for the imprisonment of persons not even charged with any crime or offence. By reference to the annexed Report of the Sergeant in charge of the House of Detention of Witnesses (marked No. 1) it will be seen, that during the year ending, October 31st, 1868, there were confined as prisoners, in fact and law, in this institution, 264 persons, 193 males and 71 females=264. The aggregate number of days these persons were detained is 38,52, equal to 10 years, 6 months and 18 days of one person.

Table No. 2, hereto annexed, exhibits the operations of this system of imprisoning innocent persons, for the six years last past. It appears that within that period, in New-York and Brooklyn, one thousand seven hundred and sixteen persons have been imprisoned in this institution, an aggregate of 25,841 days—equal to seventy years, nine months and twenty-one days' time of one person.

The witnesses are generally poor, without friends in the city. Some of them have families dependent on them for the necessaries of life. They are all innocent and have a natural right to their liberty and the earnings of such employment or business as they may choose to follow. Yet in derogation of these natural rights they are arbitrarily imprisoned, upon the claim that the public good demands their presence and testimony on criminal trials.

In some cases the innocent witness is imprisoned while the criminal is at large on bail, and finally escapes punishment, not unfre-quently, without coming to trial. In some cases where the criminal is convicted, the witness suffers a longer imprisonment than the criminal. In not a few instances the person against whom the offence was committed has been imprisoned, while the guilty party has been allowed to go at large and escape punishment.

This system instead of aiding, probably tends to embarrass the successful punishment of crime. Persons cognizant of facts which, if known, would tend to the arrest and conviction of a criminal, endeavor to avoid the hazard of being imprisoned as a witness, for an uncertain period, by concealing their knowledge, or refusing to appear as prosecutor or witness. If they are themselves the victims of the crime, they often prefer to suffer the wrong, whatever it may have been, rather than incur the risk of further wrong by being imprisoned as a witness.

During the year 1868, there were thirteen persons detained more than seventy days each. Seven of them over ninety days each. Five more than one hundred days each. One has been imprisoned 164 days and is still in prison.

The current expense of this institution for the year, paid by this department, has been $8,494.51. The property occupied for this purpose is worth probably more than $100,000, and would bring an annual rent of $10,000, making a total annual cost of $18,494.51.

Such oppressive measures ought not to be tolerated in a free and Christian country, if there is any remedy to be found within the scope of Legislative authority, consistent with an effective enforcement of criminal laws.

It is supposed that the Legislature has the power to remedy this mischief by an amendment of the practice in criminal cases, so that any witness committed to the House of Detention shall be entitled to have his testimony taken by the District Attorney, on proper notice to the prisoner, or the counsel of the prisoner, affording an opportunity for cross-examination, and to be thereupon discharged on his own recognizance, if unable to procure bail for his appearance at the trial.

HEALTH OF THE FORCE.

By reference to the report of the Board of Surgeons, marked No. 3, and the table of sick time marked No. 4, it appears that the total time lost by sickness in the whole force, for the year, was.....26,661 days, of which were paid.....15,498 “ “ “ unpaid.....11,163 “ being 1,634 days more than for 1867.

The amount paid for lost sick time was $51,076.35, being $1,846.98 more than the amount paid in 1867. The time lost by sickness is over 73 years for one man, or one year's time for 73 men. The number of deaths was 33, in a force numbering 2,668.

A considerable portion of this sick time is chargeable to members of the force who are permanently sick or disabled, who would in any other service be discharged. Under these circumstances, these statistics exhibit the health of the force in a very satisfactory light. This result may be attributed to the system of careful surgical examination of applicants for appointment; the prudent and skillful medical care and supervision of the force by the Police Surgeons; the improved sanitary situation of the station houses and dormitories furnished for the use of the force; and the thorough control of the character and mode of dress enforced under the Rules and Regulations.

LODGING HOUSES.

The station houses have connected with them rooms for lodging unfortunate persons who are not charged with any offence. During the inclement season, these rooms are often insufficient to lodge the numbers who apply for shelter on severely cold and stormy nights. They are of necessity, on some occasions, sent from one station house to another, and there are times when no room is to be found for them.

Those who apply for this accommodation are the most wretched of our population. They cannot be committed to prison. It would not be creditable to our government to allow them to freeze to death in the streets. The accommodation now afforded is insufficient, and cannot be enlarged in our station houses.

It would be a charity well bestowed, to provide, independent of the station houses, lodging houses, under the charge of the Police, to be located in different portions of the city where the population is dense, of sufficient dimensions, to receive all these wretched people.

Four or six such establishments, built and adapted to the use, could be maintained at a very moderate current expense.

In eight years, from 1861 to 1868 inclusive, the number of these lodgers has been 744,570, which is an average of 93,071 per year. See table annexed, marked No. 5.

They are supplied with a place to sleep, upon naked wooden platforms, without beds or bedclothing, in rooms kept sufficiently warm to secure them from suffering or danger from cold. Separate apartments for men and women are provided.

Though their accommodations are of the plainest and cheapest character, they are of great value to the miserable persons who resort to them. Perhaps no equal expenditure of the public money, in any department, confers a larger benefit upon those who are considered proper subjects of the care of government.

EXCISE.

The annexed table of arrests, of persons charged with intoxication or being drunk and disorderly, made on Sundays and Tuesdays, from January 1st, 1867, to November 1st, 1868, marked No. 6, exhibits the continued operation of the Excise law favorable to the enjoyment of order and quiet on the Sabbath day.

LOST CHILDREN.

The number of lost children taken charge of and restored to their parents, and otherwise disposed of, for the year ending October 31st, 1868, will be found, by reference to tables in the reports of the Chief Clerk, hereto annexed, marked Nos. 13, 14, 15 and 16.

The number, for eight years, from 1861, to 1868 inclusive, appears by table annexed, marked No. 7, to have been 65,706.

The average for the four years, from 1861 to 1864 inclusive, was 9,393.

The average for the four years, from 1865 to 1868 inclusive, was 7,284, showing a decrease of 2,109.

METROPOLITAN FIRE MARSHAL.

In pursuance of the "Act creating the office of Metropolitan Fire Marshal" (Chapter 563 of the laws of 1868), the board of Metropolitan Police, on the 26th day of May, 1868, appointed—

CHARLES N. BRACKETT, to be Fire Marshal.

HUGH McLAUGHLIN, to be Assistant Fire Marshal.

GEORGE H. SHELDON, to be Chief Clerk, and CLINTON B. OSGOOD, to be Assistant Clerk.

These officers were duly qualified, and entered upon their duties.

HUGH McLAUGHLIN subsequently resigned the office of Assistant Fire Marshal, and, on the 11th of November, 1868, PATRICK KEADY was appointed and qualified as Assistant Fire Marshal in place of HUGH McLAUGHLIN, resigned.

The first Report of the Fire Marshal is hereto annexed, marked No. 8, to which attention is respectfully called.

PROPERTY CLERK'S OFFICE.

Under the provisions of the Police law, all lost and stolen property which comes in the possession of the Police, is returned to the owners, if claimed, at the several precincts: if not claimed, it is transmitted to the Property Clerk, at the Central Department, by whom it is advertised in pursuance of law. If claimed by owners, at the Property Clerk's office, it is delivered upon satisfactory evidence of ownership. If not claimed within six months, it is advertised and sold at public auction, in pursuance of the statute.

The business at the Property Clerk's office has increased to large proportions, and its thorough administration is a material benefit to those who lose property by accident, theft or robbery.

It appears, by reference to the Report of the Property Clerk, hereto annexed, marked No. 9, that for the year ending October 31st, 1868, the value of this property, delivered to owners at the several precincts, and by the Detective and Court squads, as estimated and valued by the several owners, was $1,346,527.99.

The value of this property, delivered from the Property Clerk's office for the same period, and valued in the same manner, was $3,856,730.69, making a total delivered to owners of $5,203,258.68.

The portion of this property not claimed and sold in pursuance of the statute, was $3,286.14. Unclaimed cash, $971.11. Total cash receipts $4,257.25. Deducting expenses of sale, $659.69, left a balance of $3,597.56, which in pursuance of law, was paid to the Trustees of the Police Life Insurance fund.

Total loss to owners, including expenses, was about .082 per cent upon the total value of the property.

SANITARY COMPANY.

The Report of Captain LORD, of the Sanitary Company is hereto annexed, marked No. 10. It exhibits the extent of the services of this Company, with interesting statistics in relation to steamboiler inspection; the traffic of ferries; the sanitary work accomplished for the Board of Health; the number of children truant from school, with the result of the labors of the truant officers.

It appears that on all the ferries, plying from New-York, the passengers for the year reached the enormous number of 82,321,274.

ARRESTS.

The number of arrests, for a series of years, from 1860 to 1868 inclusive, appears by table hereto annexed, marked No. 11. The total number of arrests for these nine years has been 805,149, being an average of 89,461. The number arrested for 1868 was 98,861, being 4,408 less than 1867, but 9,400 more than the average of the past nine years.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The fiscal transactions of the department will appear by reference to the Report of the Treasurer of Police, hereto annexed, marked No. 12.

STATISTICAL REPORTS.

The Reports of the Chief Clerk, containing exhibits of the transactions of the force, for the year ending October 31st, 1868, for New-York, marked No. 13; for Brooklyn, No. 14; for Richmond County, No. 15; and for Westchester County, No. 16, are appended hereto.

BUILDINGS FOUND OPEN AND SECURED.

The number of buildings found open and secured by the Police, for the years 1861 to 1868 inclusive, have been as follows :

1861	2,904	1865	5,123
1862	3,206	1866	6,293
1863	3,609	1867	5,907
1864	4,128	1868	4,388
Total		35,568

It is gratifying to observe, that, during the year past, instances of carelessness on the part of citizens, number considerably less than either of the three preceding years.

BUREAU OF ELECTIONS.

Attention is called to the Report of the Keeper of Election Records, hereto annexed, marked No. 17. It contains suggestions with a view to reduction in the expenses of election, worthy the attention of the Legislature.

METROPOLITAN POLICE FORCE.

Table No. 18, hereto annexed, exhibits the aggregate number of the Metropolitan force of the whole District on the 31st of October, 1868, and the distribution of the force to the several counties.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF SURGEONS, FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 1ST, 1868.To the Honorable the Board of Police:

The Board of Surgeons, of the Metropolitan Police Force, has the honor to submit the Annual Report of its labors, and the statistics of the medical department of the force, for the year past, showing the number of men examined who have been candidates for appointment in the force, the number accepted and the number rejected, the amount of time lost by reason of sickness and casualties in the four counties comprising the Metropolitan Police District, its comparison with previous years, the number and specific character of the cases of sickness, the proportion of sick time paid and unpaid for, the number of deaths; its relation to the number of cases of sickness, and its ratio to the whole force. Also the number of subjects where medical questions are involved, specially referred by the Board of Police to this Board to investigate and to report upon, the cases of appeal of members for sick time from the decisions of the district surgeons to this Board, the condition of the station houses and cells for prisoners and vagrants, together with such recommendations as seem suggested by the circumstances.

The whole number of candidates who have been examined for appointment in the force, amounts to one thousand two hundred and eighty-one, of which, six hundred and twenty-seven were accepted as possessing the essential prerequisites of height, weight, age, and as having all the other physical qualifications necessary to sustain the usual labors and exposures incident to the life of a patrolman.

Of the whole number examined, six hundred and fifty-four, or a little more than half, were not accepted because of their deficiency in bodily endowments. It is true that the examinations have been critical, perhaps rigorous, yet it is believed that they have ever been fair and impartial. In doubtful cases, in order to prevent error, consultation has been held with several committees of the surgeons; whereupon, after a careful comparison of opinions, a decision has been rendered. The consequence of this strict medical examination has been to secure the services of as efficient and fine a body of men as can be found in any police or military organization in the world. In no service are these men surpassed, and in but few are they equaled in bodily vigor and soldier-like bearing. This has been demonstrated by the great nervous energy exhibited, and in the physical endurance sustained by them repeatedly in times of great emergency. If additional evidence were needed to demonstrate this point, it is only necessary to adduce the interesting fact that, notwithstanding the number killed by violence, the death ratio is much below the average of men in police and military service in time of peace in other parts of the world.

The number of days lost from sickness and accidents, since the last Report, is as follows: In New-York, twenty-one thousand three hundred and fifteen and one-half days. In Brooklyn, four thousand eight hundred and forty-one and a half days. In Richmond County, two hundred and seventy-two days, and in Westchester County, two hundred and thirty-two days, making in all, twenty-six thousand six hundred and sixty-one days. This being one thousand six hundred and thirty-four days more than were lost last year, but four thousand less than were lost in 1866. The force, however, has averaged one hundred and thirty-five more men this year than last.

Notwithstanding the great exposures of the men during a year rarely equaled in severity, whether we regard the excessive cold of the winter of 1867-8, or the unusual heat of the past summer, still, the time lost by sickness has not averaged ten days for each man. The actual time being 9.99 days. This includes also the cases of five men who are constantly sick from incurable maladies. Of this, the number of days which have been paid for, is fifteen thousand four hundred and ninety-eight, while the days unpaid for, amount to eleven thousand one hundred and sixty-three. This arises from the fact that, in cases of ordinary sickness not directly traceable to extraordinary exposure, the men receive half pay; but in cases where patrolmen receive injuries, or fall ill in consequence of unusual exposure, they receive full pay. When from avoidable sickness, caused by faults of their own, the men receive no pay.

The following are the diseases, alphabetically arranged, from which the men have suffered during the year, and the number of cases of each disease:

These make two thousand nine hundred and sixty-four cases of medical or surgical diseases, occurring among the members of the force, which have been attended by the surgeons at the houses of the patients. Of this number, thirty-three have died, being one death to eighty-seven cases of sickness. The death-ratio is, therefore, 1.204 per cent. of the whole force.

At the Central Office, all applications for medical or surgical advice, for cases of emergency, have been responded to by the surgeons, one of whom has been constantly on duty, day and night, at that Head-Quarters.

During the year past, there have been two hundred and ninety-seven cases of accidents, or sudden sickness, for the relief of which application has been made to the various station houses for medical or surgical assistance. Upon such application, by day or by night, the District Surgeon has been notified, and has attended the patient at the station house until he or she has been removed home or to some hospital.

Each station house in the district has been visited by one of the surgeons every day.

There have been four cases of appeal for full sick pay to the Board, the appellants having received but half pay, in accordance with the decisions of the district surgeons. Of this number, the decisions of the district surgeons were sustained in two cases, and, in two, the decisions were judged erroneous.

Since the last Annual Report, the widows of five deceased members of the force have applied for pensions, alleging that their husbands came to their death from unusual exposure, and in consequence of extraordinary exertion. These cases were surrounded with doubt and difficulty, and, as involving medical questions, were referred by the Board of Police to this Board to investigate and report upon. They were strictly scrutinized, by inquiry as to the causes of death, by ascertaining, from medical and other testimony, the specific character of the disease antecedent to death, by critically investigating the circumstances, if any other than natural causes, which superinduced the sickness or injury, and by examining any other facts which would tend to solve the question. Of these, the Board reported that, in its judgment, two of the applicants had fairly established good claims upon the Police Life Insurance Fund, but that, in the three others, the facts did not warrant the Board in recommending the granting of the petitions.

Two instances of insanity have occurred in the force in the year past, both of which were examined by the Board, and the patients committed to the Insane Asylum.

A number of men, who were supposed to be superannuated, were sent to this Board to be examined; but owing to some doubts respecting the law upon the subject, of what really constitutes superannuation, no determination nor report was had. It is much to be desired that a law should be enacted defining precisely the terms upon which men might be placed upon the retired list, in consequence of age or broken health, and which should provide a suitable pension for these decayed faithful public servants.

STATION HOUSES.

It is a source of sincere gratification to observe the great and continuing improvement of the various station houses. In respect to order and cleanliness, so excellent are most of them, and so active is the spirit of emulation between captains of different precincts, to make each house neater and cleaner than his neighbor's, that there is little or nothing to suggest by way of improvement in these particulars. As compared to the days antecedent to the present system of police, the station houses are in the relation of palaces to pig styes. It is to be regretted, however, that a more comprehensive and systematic plan of ventilation is not universally instituted, such, for example, as has been so wisely done in the Eighth Precinct station house. This house has recently been completed, and, in point of ventilation, leaves nothing to be desired. It may be pointed out as a model house in this particular. The persistent and erroneous practice of placing cells for prisoners and lodgers under ground, is the only mistake in erecting this otherwise admirably arranged building. From moral and sanitary considerations, this should be avoided wherever practicable. In quite a number of the better station houses, more recently erected, the cells or prisons are properly placed in rear buildings.

No one will deny that it is improper to place prisoners (numbers of whom being guilty of no offence) in dark and underground cells. If this be so in the case of prisoners, how much more wrong and cruel is it, in a civilized community, to consign to these miserable and unhealthy quarters, the houseless, homeless wanderers, who nightly apply for shelter from the hardness of the stones of the street and the pitiless severity of the weather.

It is the decided and well-considered opinion of this Board that from a sanitary point of view, it is highly improper and objectionable to allow station houses, under any circumstances, to be used for the purpose of lodging vagrants. These poor creatures come to the station houses generally filthy, and often diseased, and are then crowded into underground cells, like cattle, where they not only poison the air for themselves, but also engender malaria sufficient to communicate disease of various forms to the members of the force who are sleeping in other portions of the same building. In the judgment of this Board, it would be a wise and philanthropic measure, on the part of the legislative authorities, to devise some plan by which provision, other than the present miserable and imperfect one, be made for lodging houses in which to shelter vagrants. This is urgently demanded, not alone because of the duty of the authorities to ameliorate, as far as practicable, the condition of this class, but also from the fact that it has become absolutely necessary in order to protect the health of the police force.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

ALANSON S. JONES, M.D.,
President Board of Surgeons.

WILLIAM SUTTON, M.D.,
Secretary of Board.

OFFICE METROPOLITAN FIRE MARSHAL, }
300 Mulberry St., Nov. 1, 1868. }

Board Metropolitan Police :

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to submit the following Report of the transactions of this Bureau from the date of its organization on the 25th of May last, to the 31st day of October, inclusive.

During that time, 291 fires occurring in the City of New-York, have been investigated, and the results of such investigations placed upon record.

The records of fires occurring in Brooklyn during the same period are so defective that no attempt has been made to present any statistical information respecting them.

This defect is owing to the vacancy existing for more than four months past in the office of Assistant Metropolitan Fire Marshal, and the impossibility, with the limited force attached to the Bureau, of extending our labors beyond the limits of the City of New-York.

The accompanying statistics, compiled by the Chief Clerk of the Bureau, present many matters of interest.

Table No. 1 shows, that of the whole number of buildings damaged and destroyed, 264 were brick and 82 frame.

Table No. 2 shows, that in 202 fires the loss amounted to less than $500 each, and in three instances only the loss was upwards of $100,000.

The smallest loss during any one month was in July, $178,550, and the largest in October, $360,632.

The total loss amounts to $1,478,874, and the total insurance to $2,707,976.

The amount of loss as here stated, does not represent the actual loss sustained by the Insurance Companies; some losses not being covered by insurance, and some were compromised for a much smaller amount than originally claimed.

Table No. 3 gives, in alphabetical order, the causes of the various fires.

In this exhibit Kerosene figures largely, having been the cause of 22 fires; 17 were caused by Fireworks, and 31 by the carelessness of occupants and workmen.

Table No. 4 is an exhibit of the hours at which the several fires occurred. The largest number occurring within any given hour was 30, between the hours of 9 and 10 P. M.. Only one fire occurred between 7 and 8 A. M. Sixty-eight fires occurred between 9 P. M. and midnight.

Table No. 5 shows the number of fires occurring in each Precinct. The largest number (25) were in the 14th Precinct, causing a loss of $5,195; while the smallest number (3) occurred in the 1st Precinct, involving a loss of $15,500.

Table No. 6 shows the date, hour and location of the most disastrous fires which occurred in the city during the period above referred to. Of these fires (fifteen in number), eight, or more than one-half, occurred between the hours of one and four o'clock, A. M.

INCENDIARISM.

The number of incendiary and supposed incendiary fires were 23, a large proportion of which were stables; and in 17 instances all efforts to discover the perpetrators have failed.

Bridget Murray, a servant girl in the employ of Mrs. O'Brien, at No. 98 West Houston street, was arrested on charge of Arson, in setting fire to her bed on the 13th of June. She was convicted on her own confession, and sent to the House of Refuge.

Simon Strauss, a wood carver and cigar dealer, was arrested on charge of setting fire to his store, No. 259 South street, on the night of July 20th, and was admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000.

Robert Jackson, a young man without visible means of support, was arrested on charge of setting fire to the store of Francis Dwyer, No. 308 West 24th street, on the morning of October 15th, and committed for trial.

Eliza Moriarty, a servant girl in the employ of Charles Mount, East 89th street, between 1st avenue and avenue A, was arrested for setting fire to her employer's dwelling, on the evening of October 24th, and committed for trial.

The three cases last referred to are not yet disposed of. Several parties have been from time to time arrested on suspicion of Arson, and after thorough examination, discharged for want of evidence.

It is impossible to judge as to whether this crime is on the increase or not on account of the absence of any previous statistics relative to the subject.

Several fires occurring in large buildings occupied by numerous parties engaged in the manufacture of various articles from wood, have been rendered more disastrous by the facility afforded for the spread of the flames, by means of wooden chute or slide, running from top to bottom of the building, and used to convey the shavings and rubbish from each floor to the cellar; these are invariably made of wood. As a means of greater protection, I beg leave to suggest that proper steps be taken by legislative action or otherwise, as may seem best, to compel the construction of brick chutes, outside the building where practicable, open at the top like a chimney, and with an iron door opening on each floor.

Fires occurring in warehouses frequently communicate from floor to floor by means of the large well holes, left entirely open, or protected only by ordinary window glass easily broken by the heat, and affording an easy passage for the torch of the incendiary. This could be effectually prevented by means of an iron shutter similar to those now used for doors. Legislative action upon this subject might be productive of good effects, and save many thousands of dollars to the community.

I cannot close this Report without expressing my high appreciation of the invaluable services rendered to this Bureau from time to time by Mr. Joseph Strauss, Interpreter for the Police Department. In the midst of his many duties, and the constant demands upon his time, he has always been prompt to respond to all calls made upon him by this Bureau, and to his patience and perseverance alone are we indebted for many facts which appear upon our records.

CENTRAL DEPARTMENT OF THE METROPOLITAN POLICE,
300 MULBERRY STREET,
OFFICE OF THE SANITARY COMPANY,
NEW-YORK, Nov. 1st, 1868.

THOMAS C. ACTON, ESQ.,

President of the Board of Metropolitan Police :

SIR,—In conformity with the rules of the Department, I have the honor herewith to transmit to you the Annual Report of this branch of the Metropolitan Police force, containing, as will be found in tables annexed, the number of steam boilers examined, tested hydrostatically, their condition, &c; the number of complaints of nuisances reported to the Metropolitan Board of Health; the number of orders served, issued by said Board; the number complied with by owners or persons in charge of the property, and the number returned as not complied with; also, the amount of unsound or unhealthy meat, fishes, &c., seized and removed, and number of dead animals removed from the City limits.

Respectfully submitted,

BOWEN G. LORD,

Metropolitan Police.*

EXAMINATION AND INSPECTION OF STEAM BOILERS.

I have the pleasure of reporting that, during the year ending October 31st, 1868, there has been no explosion of any stationary boiler in the Precincts of the Metropolitan Police.

There are six men detailed, as Inspectors, who annually inspect and test hydrostatically all stationary steam boilers known to be in use in the Precincts of the Metropolitan Police.

During the year, there have been examined 3,304 steam boilers, and tested by hydrostatic pressure 2,877, to which I would respectfully call your attention to the tables annexed.

NEW-YORK, November 1st, 1868.

CAPTAIN B. G. LORD,

Sanitary Company, Metropolitan Police :

SIR,—Annexed please find my Annual Report of Ferry Boats running to and from New-York, with statistics, in tabular form, for the year 1867. The ferry boats are generally in first-rate condition.

You have the statistical record of the examination of Engineers and testing of boilers ; and at no time have they been in better condition.

Our year's work has proved a success, and, I am happy to say, there has been no life lost. There has been an increase of ferry travel, in the main—some ferries doubling their business, others falling off—others on a gradual gain, influenced by local causes.

The two main ferries, viz., Union Ferry to Brooklyn, and Jersey City Ferry, remain about the same as 1866. The increase being about two and one-half millions. The whole number carried, in 1867, being over eighty-two and a quarter millions, about double the number of inhabitants of the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH E. COFFEE,
*Chief of Bureau of Steam,
Metropolitan Police.*

BUREAU OF ELECTIONS,
December 21st, 1868.

TO THE BOARD OF POLICE :

I beg leave respectfully to report :

The number of Election Districts, in the City of New-York, is three hundred and forty. The City of Brooklyn has one hundred and eighteen districts.

The large increase in the number of polling places, in the City of New-York especially, has correspondingly increased the expenses of election.

The amount required for the payment of Inspectors, Canvassers, Poll Clerks, and for rent of places for registry and elections, in the City of New-York, was for the General Election.....	$48,945

for the Charter Election.....	38,420

The Aldermanic and Assembly districts being now identical, there is no longer a necessity for maintaining the first district of the Sixth Ward, with only thirty-six votes. The third and fourth districts of the Third Ward might be merged in one, without public inconvenience. The examination of the qualifications of voters having been performed during the days of REGISTRY, the voting on ELECTION DAY proceeds with greater rapidity, so that five or even six hundred votes were cast in certain districts with the utmost facility. It would, therefore, seem advisable to consolidate districts containing less than three hundred, and thus materially lessen the expenses of the election.

I beg leave to repeat the suggestion made in the last Report, in relation to the revision of the Registry prior to the Charter Election. It is the universal testimony that one day, instead of two, would be amply sufficient for this purpose. The expenses of registration are, for 340 districts, $25 per day, for two days = $17,000. Eight thousand five hundred dollars of the public money are thus literally thrown away.

Respectfully submitted,

D. B. HASBROUCK,

Keeper of Election Records.

CENTRAL DEPARTMENT OF METROPOLITAN POLICE,
No. 300 MULBERRY STREET,

New York, December 27th, 1869.

At a meeting of the Board of Metropolitan Police, held this day, the following among other proceedings were had:—

A draft of an Annual Report of the Board for the year, having been read and approved, it was

Resolved, That an engrossed copy of the Report be signed by the President and Chief Clerk, and, together with the documents referred to therein, transmitted to his Excellency the Governor.

S. C. HAWLEY,

Chief Clerk,

Metropolitan Police.

His Excellency,

JOHN T. HOFFMAN,

Governor of New York,

Albany.

ANNUAL REPORT.

To the Governor of the State of New York :

The Board of Metropolitan Police, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 403 of the Laws of 1864, respectfully transmits its Annual Report for the year ending November 1st, 1869, upon the condition of the Metropolitan Police Force.

REORGANIZATION OF THE BOARD.

Since the date of the last Annual Report, the Board of Metropolitan Police has been reorganized. Mr. THOMAS C. ACTON resigned the office of Commissioner of Metropolitan Police on the 29th day of April, 1869. On the same day Mr. HENRY SMITH, of the City and County of New York, was duly elected a Metropolitan Police Commissioner in place of THOMAS C. ACTON, resigned.

On the 3d day of May, 1869, "a certificate of the Secretary of State, of the election of Mr. SMITH in place of THOMAS C. ACTON, resigned, and a certified copy of his oath of office was presented to the Board of Metropolitan Police, and ordered on file in the office of the Chief Clerk."

At a meeting of the Commissioners of Metropolitan Police, held at the Central Department, on the 19th day of May, 1869, present, Messrs. Commissioners BOSWORTH, MANIERRE, BRENNAN and SMITH, Mr. Commissioner JOSEPH S. BOSWORTH was duly selected to act as President of the Board of Metropolitan Police.

Mr. Commissioner BRENNAN tendered his resignation as Treasurer of Police, which was accepted, to take effect on the 5th day of June then next; whereupon Mr. Commissioner HENRY SMITH was duly selected to be Treasurer of Police, on and after the 5th day of June then next.

STATION HOUSES IN NEW YORK.

In the THIRD PRECINCT, at the date of the last Report, the station house and prison were in process of thorough repair and enlargement. The work has been completed, and the premises are now occupied, and afford sufficient accommodations for the Police Force of the Precinct.

The building which was in process of construction at the date of last year's Report, for station house and prison for the FIFTH PRECINCT, is now completed and occupied. It is a very commodious and permanent structure.

A prison and lodging rooms have been added to the premises of the TWENTIETH PRECINCT Station House.

New first-class buildings have been erected for station houses and prisons for the TWENTY-NINTH PRECINCT, on lots Nos. 137 and 139 West 30th street, and for the THIRTY-FIRST PRECINCT, on West 100th street, between 9th and 10th avenues.

The new station houses of the FIFTH, TWENTY-NINTH and THIRTY-FIRST PRECINCTS, in dimensions and arrangements, are an improvement upon those heretofore built. They are designed to meet the future as well as the present wants of the Precincts, and are planned with a view to afford to the Police force comfortable quarters, special regard having been paid to sanitary conditions.

In the ELEVENTH, FOURTEENTH, TWENTY-THIRD and TWENTY-EIGHTH PRECINCTS the station house accommodations remain in the same condition as stated in the last Annual Report. Better accommodations are much needed in those Precincts.

It is a serious objection to the rooms occupied as a station house by the force of the Eleventh Precinct, that they are situated over a public market. The station house of the Fourteenth is old and dilapidated, and quite too small for the force required in that Precinct. The lot is only 25 feet wide, and is not of sufficient size to admit of the erection of suitable buildings upon it. The Twenty-third and Twenty-eighth are on leased premises. The lease of the former expires on the first of May, 1870, and the latter on the first of May, 1871. Neither of these four station houses furnishes sufficient or appropriate accommodations. They are poorly ventilated, imperfectly drained, badly arranged, and insufficient for the business of the Precincts. Adequate provision should be made without delay for the better accommodation of the force in those Precincts.

In the following Precincts, the property occupied as station houses and prisons belongs to the City of New York: The 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22d, 26th, 27th, 29th, 31st and 32d.

In the following Precincts, the station houses are leased : The 1st, 23d, 25th, 28th and 30th.

STATION HOUSES IN BROOKLYN.

Since the Report of last year a Sub-Precinct has been created, the territory of which is composed of portions of the Forty-sixth and Forty-ninth Precincts, and designated as the FORTY-NINTH SUB-PRECINCT. It consists of a sparsely settled eastern portion of the city of Brooklyn, to which horse patrol is adapted. A portion of the force is therefore mounted for patrol duty. A station house, prison and stables have been fitted up on leased property.

A Sub-Precinct has been created from the southwesterly portion of the Forty-third Precinct, and designated as the FORTY-THIRD SUB-PRECINCT. A station house has been fitted up on leased property, and a prison and lodging rooms built thereon. These measures were intended to furnish better protection to those exposed sections of Brooklyn, and have been attended with satisfactory results. But no skill in distribution and management can atone for the striking deficiency in the number of the force authorized for Brooklyn. An increase of the force in that city ought not to be longer delayed. Brooklyn is already a great city ; it is growing in even more rapid ratio than New York. It covers about as large a geographical area as New York. In some sections the population is such as to render necessary the constant presence of a police force to protect life and property and preserve public order. The sparsely populated districts are especially exposed to the depredations of lawless classes. Taking the federal census of population in New York and Brooklyn in 1830, 1840, 1850 and 1860, as a guide to the increase for the ten years succeeding 1860, there will be in 1870, in New York, over 1,000,000, and in Brooklyn about 350,000.

The patrolmen in New York number two thousand, or one patrolman to five hundred inhabitants ; while in Brooklyn the number of patrolmen is three hundred and sixty-eight, or about one patrolman to one thousand inhabitants.

The length of open streets and piers in New York demanding patrol service is over four hundred and fifty miles, and in Brooklyn at least three hundred and fifty miles. In New York the average length of night posts is $\frac{63}{100}$ of a mile, and day tours over a mile and a quarter ; while in Brooklyn the average length of night posts is $2\frac{54}{100}$ miles, and day posts $5\frac{8}{100}$ miles. In each city there are posts of even greater length.

In both cities, owing to needful concentration of force in the more densely populated districts, where turbulent population abound, a portion of the night posts are of such extent that the policeman's call cannot be heard from the centre to the extremes of the posts; while in Brooklyn they are of such extent that the patrolmen cannot be in supporting distance of each other.

The Force being so deficient to answer the demands of ordinary occasions, is inadequate to a perilous degree on extraordinary occasions of mobs, conspiracies and extensive riots, from which no city is exempt.

HOUSE OF DETENTION OF WITNESSES.

By reference to the annexed report of the Sergeant in charge of the House of Detention of Witnesses (marked No. 1), it will be seen, that during the year ending October 31, 1869, there were committed to and confined, as prisoners in this institution, two hundred and forty-six persons, one hundred and ninety-four of whom were males, and fifty-two females. The aggregate time of detention of these unfortunate persons is three thousand eight hundred and seventy-three days (3,873), equal to ten years, seven months and thirteen days imprisonment of one person.

Table No. 2, hereto annexed, exhibits the operation of this oppressive system of imprisoning persons who are neither guilty or accused of being guilty of crime, for the seven years last past. Within that period, in New York and Brooklyn, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five innocent persons have been deprived of their liberties and incarcerated in this prison, called "The House of Detention of Witnesses," for an aggregate time of twenty-nine thousand seven hundred and fourteen days, equal to eighty-one years, four months and twenty-nine days imprisonment of one person.

One of these victims of an oppressive law was imprisoned one hundred and sixty-four days in the year ending October 31st, 1868, and his detention continued one hundred and five days after that date, making a term of two hundred and sixty-nine days of dreary confinement. He was a poor mechanic, guilty of no offence or fault, and the head of a family dependent on him for support.

During the year under consideration, five persons have been detained over one hundred days each, sixteen over sixty days each, twenty-five over forty days each, and forty-five over twenty days each.

If there is a remedy for this oppressive and arbitrary system to be found within the scope of Legislative authority, it ought to be immediately applied.

It is believed that the Legislature has the constitutional authority to amend the code of practice in criminal cases, so that any person, deemed by the Courts to be a material witness in a criminal case, and not able to furnish bail, shall be entitled to have his testimony taken by the District Attorney, on notice to the prisoner or counsel of the prisoner, so that the witness may be confronted and cross-examined by the accused, and to be thereupon discharged on his own recognizance. The testimony so taken to be used at the trial, if the personal attendance of the witness cannot be enforced by the process of the Court.

HEALTH OF THE FORCE.

It appears by the Report of the Board of Surgeons (marked No. 3) and the table (marked No. 4) that the amount of time lost by sickness and injuries, in the whole force for the year, was 22,764 days. Payment of salary was allowed for $13,116\frac{3}{4}$ days; payment of salary was disallowed for $9,647\frac{1}{4}$ days = 22,764.

Though the number of the Police force has been greater during the year 1869 than it was in 1868, the amount of time lost by sickness has been considerably less. Thus in 1868, the number of days of full time was 960,560; number of days lost by sickness, 26,661. In 1869, the number of days full time was 988,256; number of days sick time, 22,764. In 1868, the sick time was 2.77 per cent. of the whole time. In 1869, it was 2.3 per cent. of the whole time. In 1868, the total amount paid for sick time was $51,076.35. In 1869, the total amount paid for sick time was $43,124.46. Difference in favor of 1869, $7,951.89.

The improved health of the force is gratifying. Nevertheless, the amount paid for sick time, for which no service is rendered, is a serious item in the public expenditure. The loss is more than equal to the continued salary of thirty-five patrolmen.

The reduction in the proportion of sick time is in some degree due to efforts of the Board to free the force from members who are broken down in health and totally disabled from the performance of police duty, by inducing them to resign and accept pensions from the Police Life Insurance Fund, and by the death during the year of several of that class of members. The improved sanitary condition of the station house accommodations, it is believed, has also contributed to reduce the amount of sickness in the force.

No member permanently disabled, ought to be continued on the force. The public require in the Police service strong, able-bodied and competent men, and ought not to be compelled to pay for the salaries of the disabled and incompetent. Members might be dismissed for these causes, but in many cases they have devoted the best portion of their lives to their duties, and have, as they approached old age, been broken down by the severity of the service; meanwhile, they have lost the ability to earn a livelihood in any kind of occupation. In such cases, to turn them off without pay or pension would be a harsh measure, and in most cases would simply transfer the burthen of their support from the treasury of the Police force to that of Charities and Corrections.

It would be more politic and humane to provide for the accumulation of a RETIRING FUND for disabled and incompetent members; so that, in proper cases, they could be retired on half pay, leaving their places to be filled by sound and competent persons.

It is believed that an amendment of the law to authorize such a system, while it would benefit the members retired, would largely increase the efficiency of the force.

EXCISE.

The annexed table (marked No. 5) shows the number of arrests of persons charged with being intoxicated or drunk and disorderly, made on Sundays and Tuesdays during the year ending October 31, 1869. It shows a large excess in the number of such arrests on Tuesdays over Sundays. Previous to the enactment of the present Excise Law the arrests for these offences on Sundays always greatly exceeded the arrests on Tuesdays for like offences. It appears that during the three years that the provision, known as the "Sunday clause" of the Excise Law, has been in force, there have been seven thousand eight hundred and fifty-six less arrests on Sundays than on Tuesdays for the causes named. The gratification arising from this view of the subject consists not alone in the fact that so many less arrests have been made, but that a like number of cases of public drunkenness on the Sabbath have been prevented.

BUREAU OF THE FIRE MARSHAL.

Attention is called to the second Annual Report of the Metropolitan Fire Marshal, hereto annexed (marked No. 6). It presents, in a clear and concise manner, the transactions of that Bureau, and furnishes valuable information to those interested in the protection of life and property from destruction by fire.

PROPERTY CLERK'S OFFICE.

It appears by the Report of the Property Clerk, hereto annexed (marked No. 7), that during the year ending October 31st, 1869, the value of lost or stolen property delivered to owners at the several Precincts and by the Detective and Court Squads, as estimated and valued by the owners thereof, was $1,743,706.84. The value of like property delivered to owners, for the same period, from the Property Clerk's office in the Central Department, ascertained in the same manner, was $1,002,187.81. The total proceeds of unclaimed property, sold in pursuance of law, was $3,259.90; unclaimed cash, $1,266.55; total value, $2,750,421.10; returned to owners, $2,745,894.65; total loss to owners, $4,526.45.

The proceeds of property sold and the unclaimed cash amounted to $4,526.45. Expenses of advertising and sale, $690.81—$3,835.64. The last named amount, in pursuance of the statute, was paid into the Police Life Insurance Fund.

SANITARY COMPANY.

The unostentatious but valuable services of the Sanitary Company are shown in the accompanying Report of Captain Lord, hereto annexed (marked No. 8).

They have examined during the year three thousand five hundred and three stationary steam boilers, and tested by hydrostatic pressure, three thousand and thirty-five. Of the number examined, seven hundred and thirty were found defective. Repaired and defects remedied, seven hundred and fifteen cases. Fifteen were removed by order of the Department. During the year eight hundred and thirty-five persons applied for certificates to authorize them to take charge of boilers as engineers. Of that number, after examination, four hundred and forty-four were granted certificates, and three hundred and ninety-one denied, as not possessing the requisite degree of skill. This is a very important feature in the system of supervision of steam boilers by the Sanitary Company. Without such supervision, a large portion of three hundred and ninety-one incompetent persons, by accepting low wages, would probably have been employed in managing steam boilers, thus greatly increasing the peril from explosions of steam boilers.

FERRIES.

The number of Ferry Boats plying between New York Island and the adjacent shores is seventy-six.

The large increase of intercourse between the populations of the City of New York and the adjacent territory is illustrated by the following figures :—Number of passengers carried by the ferries during the three years last past is as follows :

1866.....	79,925,000
1867.....	82,321,274	Increase.....2,396,274
1868.....	87,008,413	“4,687,139

Total increase in two years.....7,083,413

LODGING HOUSES.

In nine years, from 1861 to 1869 inclusive, the number of poor and unfortunate persons who have applied for and been furnished lodgings at the Station Houses has been 880,161, which is an average of 97,796 per year. The number thus accommodated during the past year, as appears by the table hereto annexed (marked No. 9), was 135,591, which is 5,479 less than the preceding year, but 37,795 more than the average of the nine years.

Suggestions and recommendations were contained in the Report of last year concerning the accommodation of this class of population, to which reference is respectfully made.

LOST CHILDREN.

The annexed table (marked No. 10) of lost children taken charge of by the Police, and restored to parents or otherwise disposed of, during the nine years from 1861 to 1869 inclusive, shows the aggregate number of 73,081, to which may be added 779 foundlings, 90 of which were reported during the year past. The annual average for the nine years is 8,120. The number for the past year is considerably less than the average.

The details in relation to lost children will be found in the Reports of the Chief Clerk, hereto annexed (marked Nos. 14, 15, 16, 17).

ARRESTS.

The table hereto annexed (marked No. 11), exhibits the number of arrests by the Police force for a series of ten years, from 1860 to 1869, inclusive.

The total number for these years has been 898,489. The average number is 89,848. The number for the year past is 93,340, which is 5,521 less than the year next preceding, and 3,492 more than the average.

The largest number of arrests, 103,269, occurred in 1867. The smallest, 69,571, in 1864. The difference between the highest and lowest number is 33,698.

It is perhaps worthy of notice, that the smallest number of arrests occurred during 1864, a portion of which was the last year of the war, and a year in which the armies of the nation, in the field, were largest; and the largest number occurred in 1867, after the armies had been fully disbanded. Since the last named year the number of arrests have decreased. The details of arrests will appear by reference to the Statistical Reports of the Chief Clerk, hereto annexed (marked Nos. 14, 15, 16, 17.)

The means of comparing the City of New York with the whole State, in respect to special features of crime, are not at hand. There are many circumstances operating to make great cities the common resort of persons who live by criminal depredations upon society. Among them, no doubt, is the disposition of State Prison convicts, on being discharged, to resort to the Metropolis.

The following is a table showing the number of prisoners discharged from the several States Prisons of the State of New York, for the year ending September 30th, 1868.

Prisons.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Convicted more than once.
				Males.	Females.	Total.
Sing Sing.....	445	62	507	90	5	95
Auburn	311	..	311	151	..	151
Clinton.....	204	..	204	29	..	29
Total.....	960	62	1022	270	5	275

The number convicted more than once, is 26.90 per cent. upon the total number discharged.

It is probable that a large proportion of the 1,022 discharged felons found their way promptly to the City of New York. They are generally without means when discharged. The evil reputation of a discharged convict renders it difficult for them to procure honest employment. They are thus by adverse circumstances, in a measure, compelled to resort to begging or plundering for a living, and they find New York a convenient and profitable field of operations. Over one fourth of the whole number are re-convictions, and some of those discharged last year, had served three, four and five terms in States Prison.

A system by which a portion of the earnings of the prisoners should be accumulated for their benefit, to be paid to them on being discharged, enabling them to seek employment and establish new homes where they might hope to live by honest industry, would probably prove not only beneficial to the public, but in many cases be an advantage to the discharged convicts.

On the 15th of April, 1817, the Legislature passed an Act concerning States Prisons, containing a section which provided (in substance) that "the agent keep an account for each prisoner, charging him cost of subsistence, and crediting him with his earnings, to be balanced quarterly, and twenty per cent. of the net earnings to be invested, and at his discharge (if well behaved) paid to him, or one half thereof, under proper conditions, and with his assent, be paid from time to time to his family."

It does not appear from the history of the States Prisons, that this provision was ever carried into effect. Perhaps its operation has been defeated by the circumstance that there has been no net earnings.

It is probable that the provision has been repealed; if it has not, it is inoperative now, when cost of subsistence always exceeds the earnings of the prisoners.

It is suggested that a new Law be passed, providing that a certain per cent. of the wages of prisoners be set apart and invested for their benefit, and paid to them on their discharge. Such a system would be likely, not only to have the beneficial effect spoken of, but also to act upon the prisoners as a perpetual motive to industry and good conduct. It would probably increase the value of their labors to their employers in a ratio equal to the per cent. of credit awarded to them.

The monthly average of contract wages per day, may be assumed at fifty cents, and the number of working days per year, three hundred. With an allowance to the prisoners of ten per cent. of wages, the amounts which would be payable to prisoners on their discharge, without considering accumulated interest on investments, would be as follows:—

2 years, $30	3 years, $45	4 years, $60
5 " 75	6 " 90	7 " 105
8 " 120	9 " 135	10 " 150

The possession of these sums would furnish facilities to aid the efforts of well disposed persons to enter upon a life of honest industry, remote from the neighborhood of their misfortunes and crimes.

METROPOLITAN POLICE FORCE.

The table marked No. 12, exhibits the aggregate number of the Metropolitan Police Force of the whole district, on the 31st day of October, 1869, and the distribution of the force between the several counties.

It will be seen that the number of patrolmen was 2,408.

The number authorized by law was :—

New York.....	2,000
Brooklyn.....	368
Richmond Co.....	26
Yonkers.....	14
West Farms.....	8

When the present organization of the force was established with a Superintendent and four Inspectors, the number of patrolmen was limited to sixteen hundred men. Since that, from time to time, the force has been increased more than fifty per cent., by adding eight hundred and sixteen patrolmen, and a proportionate number of Captains, Sergeants and Doormen.

Ordinary Police duty, is, in the main, performed by the men acting separately, and not, as in the military service, under the immediate command of officers. The patrol duty resembles in this respect, sentinel duty in the army; and in the Police force, as in the army, affords great temptations to and opportunities for evasion of duty and desertion. This can only be detected and corrected by thorough supervision in the Inspector's Department. New and increased duties have been thrown upon the Inspectors. Two are fully occupied in office duties in New York and Brooklyn, and but two remain to perform the very extensive duties required out of the offices.

The efficiency, discipline and welfare of the force, demand an increase in the number of Inspectors, commensurate with the increase of the force. Two Inspectors, at least, ought to be added.

It is only through a thorough supervision of the force, by means of the Inspector's Department, that the irregularities and delinquencies of patrolmen, of which the public have cause to complain, can be remedied.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The fiscal transactions of the department will appear by reference to the Report of the Treasurer of Police, hereto annexed, marked No. 13.

STATISTICAL REPORTS.

The Reports of the Chief Clerk, containing exhibits of the transactions of the force, for the year ending October 31, 1869,

For New York, marked No. 14.

“ Brooklyn, “ 15.

“ Richmond Co., “ 16.

are appended hereto.

BUILDINGS FOUND OPEN AND SECURED.

The number of buildings found open and unoccupied, secured by the Police, for a series of nine years, from 1861 to 1869, both inclusive, has been as follows:—

1861.....	2,904.	1866.....	6,293.
1862.....	3,206.	1867.....	5,907.
1863.....	3,609.	1868.....	4,388.
1864.....	4,128.	1869.....	5,081.
1865.....	5,123.		—————
Total.....			40,639.

It thus appears that the carelessness of citizens, has, during the term of nine years, afforded 40,639 unembarrassed opportunities to thieves and burglars.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF SURGEONS FOR THE YEAR ENDING NOVEMBER 1st, 1869.

TO THE HON. JOSEPH S. BOSWORTH,
President of the Board of Police.

The Board of Surgeons herewith respectfully transmits its Annual Report for the year ending November 1st, 1869: containing a summary statement of its duties and labors for the year past—in the examination of candidates for appointment on the force; the medical investigation of applications for sick pay; the petitions to be placed upon the retired list, and the number and results of the examination of applications for pensions by widows of policemen who were alleged to have lost their lives because of a faithful discharge of police duty. Exhibiting the number of cases and the character of the diseases and accidents from which the members of the force have suffered; the number of days lost by reason of such sickness; the number of deaths; its relation to the number of cases of sickness, and to the whole number of the force; and also the number of cases of accidents and sudden sickness for which medical relief has been sought and obtained at the various station houses and at the Central Office; together with a statement of the sanitary condition of the station houses.

During the year the Surgeons have examined one thousand one hundred and eleven candidates for appointment on the force, of whom five hundred and eighty-nine proved sound, robust and physically qualified to sustain the labors and exposures incident to the life of a patrolman, and of whom five hundred and twenty-two were rejected as not possessing these indispensable qualifications.

A recent rule of the Board of Police requires all candidates, though they may have once passed the Surgeons, but who have not been appointed within thirty days thereafter, to pass a second examination. In compliance with this rule, there have been during the year two hundred and fifty-six secondary examinations, of which two hundred and twenty-four repassed, and of which thirty-two failed because of some disease having developed itself during the time intervening between the first and second examinations. Sixty cases of rejection by a committee of three Surgeons were by the Board of Police accorded an examination by the full Board of Surgeons. These resulted in the passing of seventeen such candidates, and the second rejection of forty-three of them.

The number of days lost by members of the force by reason of sickness and injuries, amounts to twenty-two thousand seven hundred and sixty-four. This being three thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven days less than were lost last year, while the whole number of the force has averaged eighty-two more than last year.

In the force there have been during the year, two thousand nine hundred and three cases of sickness and disabilities from various causes hereinafter enumerated. The time lost by each sick man has averaged seven days and eight tenths.

There have been thirty deaths in the force in the past year, making the death ratio 1.268 per cent. A very low rate, when we consider the character of the hazards to life and limb attaching to the vocation of a patrolman, and which low rate, it is believed, is to be accounted for in the fact that great care is exercised in the selection of robust and healthy men for the position.

Two applications for pensions by widows who claimed that their husbands lost their lives in consequence of doing police duty, were referred to the Board of Surgeons. Said Board after a thorough investigation of all the facts of the sickness, and the causes of death, reported that the facts and circumstances did not connect the deaths with any antecedent causes referable to police duty, but that death was the result of ordinary disease, and that therefore, in its judgment, the petitioners had not established any rightful claim.

Thirteen cases of appeal from decisions of the district Surgeons, where the appellant claimed full sick pay, have been examined and reported upon.

Twelve patrolmen, after examination, were reported to the Board of Police as permanently physically disabled, and were recommended as proper cases for the retired list. One man proved to be insane. Twenty-three cases were referred to the Board to examine and report upon applications for leave of absence, relief from drill or from night duty.

There have been during the year, two thousand one hundred and forty cases of accident or sickness, for the relief of which application has been made to the various station houses or to the Central Office. These cases have been attended by the Surgeons by day and by night, and treated or sent to the hospitals.

It is very gratifying to the Board of Surgeons to be able to report that the condition of the various station houses is generally most excellent, not only as regards order and cleanliness, but that there is a constant and well marked improvement in them year by year, in all that pertains to sanitary questions. In the more recently erected houses, great attention has been bestowed upon the means of ventilation, and a proper regard has been had to the health of the force, as well as that of persons incarcerated, by reason of placing the cells for prisoners and lodgers above ground, and in the rear of the lot, away from the dormitories of the members of the force.

The Board of Surgeons would again most respectfully, yet most urgently, press upon your attention the propriety, humanity and necessity of adopting some means whereby lodgers should be cared for and sheltered in buildings disconnected with station houses entirely. This change is demanded not alone for the purpose of ameliorating the condition of the unfortunate persons who are obliged to have recourse to the cells for lodging places, but also because of sanitary considerations in reference to the members of the force.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

ALANSON S. JONES, M. D.,
President.

WM. SUTTON, M. D.,
Secretary.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE METROPOLITAN FIRE
MARSHAL, FOR THE YEAR ENDING
OCTOBER 31ST, 1869.

To the Honorable Commissioners of Metropolitan Police :

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honor to submit herewith, the Annual Report of the business of this Bureau for the year ending October 31, 1869.

The number of fires in the City of New York, during the year, was 913, against 822 for the previous year, being an increase of ten per cent.

The total number of buildings damaged and destroyed was 1,010, of which 243 were frame, and 767 were brick, stone and iron.

Six vessels were also damaged and destroyed.

325 buildings were occupied as dwellings, 207 as stores of various kinds, 139 for manufacturing purposes, 55 as stores and dwellings combined, and 53 as stables.

The estimated loss for the year, was $3,416,402, against $4,057,376 for the previous year, being a decrease of 15 per cent.

The amount of insurance on buildings, was $2,599,789, and on stock, $7,323,883, making a total of $9,923,672.

456 fires, or one half the total number show a loss of less than $100 each, and 814, or about 90 per cent. of the whole number, show a loss of less than $5,000 each.

One of the principal causes of fires is the carelessness of servants, employees and occupants of buildings, in the use of fire and lights. No less than 188 fires having occurred from this cause, 98 were caused by Kerosene, 55 were of incendiary origin, 39 were caused by Defective flues, 31 were caused by Fireworks, 118 were of unknown origin, and the remainder originated from a variety of accidental causes.

The nativity of the occupants of premises where the several fires originated is as follows:—

United States, 263 ; Germany, 369 ; Ireland, 185 ; England, 57 ; France, 23 ; Spain, 2 ; Italy, 1 ; Denmark, 1 ; Africa, 1.

The greatest number of fires (74) occurred in the 10th Precinct ; and the next greatest (63) in the adjoining Precinct (14th). These Precincts showed the greatest number of fires last year. They cover an area of 997,040 square yards, and have a population of upwards 60,000.

ARSON.

Of the total number of fires—

FIFTY-FIVE, or six per cent., were of incendiary origin ; while during the previous year, EIGHTY-TWO, or ten per cent. of the whole number, were caused by incendiaries.

FIFTY-THREE persons have been arrested for arson during the year, and were disposed of as follows:—

FOUR were honorably discharged.

FORTY-TWO were discharged for want of evidence.

ONE was convicted of disorderly conduct.

THREE were convicted of arson, viz. :—

FREDERICK BADEN and JOSEPH ROLL were each convicted of arson in the third degree, for having, on the 26th day of November, 1868, set fire to premises No. 648 Ninth avenue, occupied on first floor as a liquor store by said Baden, and by several families on the upper floors. They were each sentenced to State Prison for the term of seven years at hard labor.

ROSA PETERS was convicted of arson in the fourth degree, for having set fire to premises No. 196 Greene street, on the 7th of May last, and was sentenced to the Penitentiary for one year.

THREE cases are now awaiting trial, viz. :—

HERMAN LEVY, for setting fire to premises No. 499 Canal street, on the 15th day of November, 1868.

PATRICK MARTIN, for setting fire to premises No. 6 Mission Place, on the 20th of November, 1868 ; and IGNATIUS FOX, for setting fire to premises No. 704 Seventh avenue, on the 16th day of June last.

In addition to these, there are THREE cases awaiting trial ; the crimes having been committed previous to November 1, 1868, viz. :—

SIMON STRAUSS, for setting fire to store 259 South street, July 21st, 1868.

ELIZABETH MORIARTY, for setting fire to dwelling on East 89th street, between Second and Third avenues, October 14th, 1868 ; and ROBERT JACKSON, for setting fire to premises No. 305 West 24th street, October 15, 1868.

There is great difficulty in obtaining a conviction for arson, the obstacles in the way being almost insurmountable.

The number of arrests in the city for this crime, from January 1st, 1864 to June 1st, 1868, a period of four years and six months, were one hundred and sixty-one ; while the records of the Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Sessions, for the same time, show but three convictions.

The number of arrests from June 1, 1868, to November 1, 1869, a period of one year and five months, were seventy-five ; and the records of the same Courts, for the same period, show four convictions.

KEROSENE.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-NINE fires, or more than one-tenth of the total number in New York and Brooklyn, were caused by kerosene and other products of petroleum, used for illuminating purposes.

By these fires TEN persons were burned to death, and THIRTY-FIVE more or less seriously injured.

The damage to property from this cause is estimated at $82,150 ; $72,720 in New York and $9,430 in Brooklyn. The reckless disregard for life and property, as evinced by the manner in which these dangerous fluids are manufactured and sold, calls for the most prompt and stringent action on the part of the Legislature. Every possible protection should be given to the life and property of those who are compelled to use them. Irresponsible parties should be prevented, so far as practicable, from dealing in them. Dealers should be regularly licensed by the proper authorities, and their stock tested at short intervals by competent persons, duly appointed for that purpose, and both manufacturers and dealers subjected to heavy penalties in case their stock was found to fall below the legal standard.

BROOKLYN.

There were 311 fires in Brooklyn during the past year, involving a loss estimated at $1,288,132, on which there was an insurance amounting to $1,509,190,— 301 buildings, and 3 vessels were damaged and destroyed ; of these buildings 178 were frame and 123 were brick.

ARSON.

The number of arrests for arson in Brooklyn during the year, were 26. Of these 17 were discharged by the Police Magistrates, 2 were discharged by the Grand Jury, 7 were indicted, and of these 1 has been convicted, one acquitted, 2 were discharged on their own recognizance and 3 are still awaiting trial.

PHILIP VIGLIEVERRS, who was indicted for setting fire to premises 425 Atlantic street, on the 18th of June, 1868, was, on the 6th day of February, 1869, convicted of ARSON IN 3D DEGREE, and sentenced to confinement in the State Prison at hard labor, for the term of SEVEN YEARS AND SIX MONTHS.

JOHN MCGUCKIN, who was indicted for having set fire to a hose house at the junction of N. 4th and 6th streets, on the 15th of September last, was convicted of ARSON IN 3D DEGREE, on the 4th of October, and was sentenced to confinement in the State Prison at hard labor for the term of SEVEN YEARS.

McGuckin was twice arrested for arson, previous to his committing the crime for which he was convicted, viz.: on the 22d November, 1868, on suspicion of having set fire to a stable on 6th street, near North 5th, and on the 21st of March, 1869, on suspicion of having set fire to a frame building on 4th street, near North 8th. On both these occasions he was discharged by the Police Magistrate.

Subsequently he was advised by Assistant Fire Marshal Keady to leave the City, which he refused to do; conducting himself in a defiant and insolent manner.

McGuckin was a bunker in the late Volunteer Fire Department of Brooklyn, and a large proportion of the many incendiary fires which have occurred in the city during the past year are attributable to that class of which he was a somewhat notorious member. His conviction, however, has had a salutary effect upon them, and since that time they have remained comparatively quiet. If those now under indictment can be convicted, it is safe to say that arson cases in Brooklyn will be less frequent in the future.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

Fourteen fires have occurred during the year in that part of the County of Westchester patrolled by the Metropolitan police.

Twenty-two buildings were damaged and destroyed, of which 18 were frame and 4 were brick.

The loss is estimated at $119,775, and the amount of insurance is $87,200.

The buildings were occupied as follows:—

Brewery, 1; Coal and wood yard, 2; Carpenters, 2; Dwellings, 9; Factory, 1; Foundry, 1; Hotels, 2; Lumber yard, 1; Stable, 1; Store, 2.

Six of these fires were supposed to be of incendiary origin, and the remainder originated from a variety of accidental causes.

RICHMOND COUNTY.

Eleven fires have occurred during the year in Richmond County, of these two were of incendiary origin, and the remainder were from accidental causes.

The loss is estimated at $57,900; amount of insurance, $48,640.

There have been no convictions for arson during the year, in either Westchester or Richmond Counties.

The total loss within the district during the year is estimated at $4,882,209, and the insurance is $11,568,702.

Very respectfully submitted,

EXAMINATION AND INSPECTION OF STEAM BOILERS.

I am pleased to state that the examination and inspection of steam boilers has proved a success, there having been no explosion of any stationary boiler in the Precincts of the Metropolitan Police during the year.

There are six men detailed as Inspectors, who inspect as often as time will permit, and annually test hydrostatically all stationary steam boilers known to be in use in the Precincts of the Metropolitan Police.

During the year there have been examined 3,503 steam boilers, and tested by hydrostatic pressure 3,035, to which I would respectfully call your attention to the tables annexed.

NEW YORK, November 1st, 1869.

CAPTAIN B. G. LORD,

Sanitary Company, Metropolitan Police :

SIR,—The Annual Report of ferry boats running to and from New York, together with statistical record of the same for the year 1868, you will please find annexed hereto. There has been an increase of ferry-travel, over the year 1867, amounting to almost 5,000,000 passengers ; 2,000,000 of which number are on the Union Ferries to Brooklyn. The New York and Elizabethport, and the Pavonia ferry have also largely increased. The other ferries show an increase of from five to ten per cent. There have been no accidents of a serious nature, and no loss of life during the year.

As regards the stationary boilers in the Metropolitan district, and the Engineers in charge of the same, I am happy to say that there has been no explosion, and the class of Engineers are improving each year.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH E. COFFEE,

*Chief of Bureau of Steam,

TRUANT REPORT OF NEW YORK.

There are nine men detailed to look after idle and truant children in the city, who visit public schools daily and receive the names and residences of such children as the principals have reason to believe are truants, and then visit them at their homes, confer with their parents or guardians, showing them the importance of regular attendance of their children at school and the evils of truancy. In most cases this is all that is required to effect a reformation of the truants. In some cases it has been found necessary to arrest them and conduct them to school, and in others to their parents. A few, who have become more confirmed in their evil ways, have been committed by the magistrates, on complaint of their parents or guardians, to the asylums, and some, where neither parents or officers have any control over them, have been dismissed from school.

During the year ending October 31st, 1869, the officers have made 5,450 visits to the various schools, and received the names and residences of 9,518 children as absentees. On visiting them at their homes it was ascertained that 3,319 were absent for the following reasons, viz. :
